Russians Cut Warsaw-Danzig R. R. 16 Cents an Hour Increase for Expressmen

RUSSIANS TAKE CIECHANOW

Victory Cuts Warsaw-Danzig R. R.—Lloyd George Still Hopeful of Peace

Allies Oppose Sending Troops to Aid Poland—To Continue Supplying Munitions

LONDON, Aug. 10. (By Associated Press.)—"I am still hopeful of peace," were the opening words of Premier Lloyd George's announcement in the house of commons today with regard to the Russo-Polish crisis.

Russians Capture Ciechanow

PARIS, Aug. 10.—The Russians have captured the town of Ciechanow, thus cutting the Warsaw-Danzig railroad, according to reports from the French military mission to Warsaw received by the foreign office today.

Military Decisions

PARIS, Aug. 10.—The military decisions reached at the Hythe conference between Premiers Lloyd George and Millerand and their advisers, were as follows, according to the French foreign office:

First—That it was impracticable and unnecessary to send allied troops to Poland.

Second—The integrity of Poland's western frontier was guaranteed (this palpably means that any effort by Germany to use the present crisis in an attempt to regain any of the territory ceded to Poland under the treaty of Versailles, would be decisively negated by the allies.)

Third—That the allies would continue sending munitions and skilled officers to Poland.

Blockade measures would possibly be taken later, it was said, but French opinion questioned the effectiveness of such action.

Severe Fighting Continues

JOHANNESBURG, East Prussia, Aug. 10. (By Associated Press.)—A battle lasting two days was fought before the Russian Bolsheviks were able to overcome Polish resistance before Ostrolenka, according to a Polish courier who arrived here today.

After the fall of Ostrolenka the Polish forces withdrew and were pursued by Bolshevik cavalry, and it is reported that there has been severe fighting in the vicinity of Mlawa which is still being held by the Poles.

FISHER WAS NOT SHOT

Injury Caused by Fall; Not by Bullet—Laponi Fined One Hundred Dollars

Fearing they might steal vegetables from his garden, Vincenzo Laponi, a resident of Livingston street, fired two revolver shots in the air last evening, when he saw a couple standing on the sidewalk near his home. When the shots were fired the young man, who was talking with a young woman, dropped to the ground and the first report was that he had been shot in the neck. The ambulance was summoned and the injured man was taken to St. John's hospital, where it was found that he was suffering from a slight wound in the neck, caused by his fall and not by a bullet.

Vincenzo was placed under arrest and at this morning's session of the police court he was charged with unlawfully carrying a revolver. He pleaded not guilty. Philip Fisher of 10 Runel's place, the young man who was alleged to have been shot, testified.

HEAVY GUARD AS MANNIX ARRIVES

Australian Archbishop Reaches London—Train Flanked—Platform Guarded

Even Priests Not Allowed to Greet Prelate Until He Passed Barriers

LONDON, August 10.—Archbishop Daniel J. Mannix of Australia, who was landed yesterday at Penzance by a British destroyer which had taken him from on board the White Star liner Baltic, off the Irish coast, arrived here at 6 o'clock this morning.

A less impressive welcome for the Archbishop could hardly have been staged than that which greeted him at Paddington station. Only the late editions of last evening's newspapers published the fact that he had landed at Penzance and was coming to this city. Therefore only a few knew that he was to arrive early today.

The police had made arrangements to care for a much larger crowd than that formed by a few priests, representatives of the Irish self-determination league, and reporters who had awaited the train.

Detectives On Guard

Railway officials had arranged for his train to be flanked on either side by other trains, and both ends of the platform were guarded by police and detectives.

Even the priests were not allowed to greet the archbishop until he had passed the barriers into the station proper. Here the police had some difficulty in handling even such a small crowd, as nearly everyone insisted on kneeling before the archbishop and kissing his hand.

Will Attempt To Go to Ireland

Efforts of those who took Archbishop Mannix from the station to evade the public seemed to lend strength to statements of Irishmen that the Australian prelate will attempt to go to Ireland notwithstanding the government's determination that he shall not.

He was first led to the subway platform, and then suddenly hurried to an automobile in which his luggage had been placed. He was driven to the home of a priest in the suburbs.

The archbishop declined to say whether he had any plans for the immediate future, and would not disclose what he intended to do during his stay in England.

FIREHOUSE TO BE SOLD

City Council Votes to Sell Westford Street Engine House

Orders Passed for Locke Street and Pawtucketville Improvements.

Howard Street Playground Taken Under Advisement—Fireman Reed Pensioned

The Westford street firehouse, one of the oldest buildings of the fire department, which has been closed for the past few months, will be sold at public auction in the immediate future and the money accruing from its sale used for the erection of a firehouse in the outer section of the Highlands, according to an order passed by the municipal council at its regular weekly meeting this morning.

Commissioner John F. Salmon, head of the fire department, and Commissioner George E. Marchand, head of the department of public property and licenses, were authorized to make arrangements for the sale. By including in the order for the sale of the land and building its intention of using the funds received therefrom for the purpose of erecting a new house, the council bound itself by moral obligation to spend the money for no other purpose, although legally the council has no right to specify what shall be done with the money until it is actually received.

Commissioner Dennis A. Murphy refused to vote for the order, maintaining that it was poor business policy to bind the council to using money that will be received from the sale for any specific purpose when the city may have to go out and borrow funds to carry on its department work. However, the order had four votes and was carried.

The council also appropriated $24,000 for the much-heralded Locke street and Pawtucketville improvements. Two orders, each calling for the borrowing of $12,000 were passed with practically no discussion.

A hearing was given on the petition of residents of Howard street that the evening playground recently established there be closed and the street re-

MORE AUTOISTS FINED IN POLICE COURT

Max Cohen was charged with operating his automobile through Westford street in a way to endanger lives and menace public safety. He admitted his guilt and was ordered to pay a fine of $25. Alme Lalierette of Lawrence, was arrested on a charge of failing to dim his automobile lights and also for failing to have in his possession his automobile registration and he admitted his guilt. The registration case was placed on file, while a $20 fine was imposed on the charge of failing to regulate his lights. Girard Hariman and Lesley G. Tyler, were also charged with failing to regulate the lights on their motor vehicles and both had their cases placed on file inasmuch as they have had the lenses changed on their cars. Armand Morissette, also for failing to regulate the lights on his motorcycle, had his case placed on file.

EXPRESS MEN GET INCREASE

Labor Board Hands Down Decision Increasing Wages $30,000,000 Yearly

80,000 Men Share in Raise, Amounting to 16 Cents an Hour, Retroactive to May 1

CHICAGO, Aug. 10.—The United States railway labor board today handed down a decision increasing wages of employees of the American railway express $30,000,000 yearly.

Eighty thousand men not provided for by the recent $600,000,000 railway wage award are affected.

The award is retroactive to May 1, 1920. The wage increase, amounting to 16 cents an hour, will give messengers and other train service employees an increase of $35.40 a month. All other employees will receive an increase of $32.64.

Train service employees work on a 240 hour a month basis, while other employees work on a 204 hour basis.

Under the terms of the Esch-Cummings transportation act, the express company will be permitted to raise its rates sufficiently to meet the increased labor cost. Arguments in the rate case already have been presented before the Interstate commerce commission.

Today's award does not go into the question of rules and working conditions. As was the case last month, when the board granted a $600,000,000 increase to railway employees it was announced a decision covering new working rules would be handed down later.

The award to express men is slightly better than the average increase to the railroad men, the board finding that express employees as a class, were not so well paid as men in other lines of railroad work.

Effects To Lowell Men
The increase of 16 cents an hour will effect about 70 employees of the American Railway Express company in this city.

$12,000,000 INCREASE IN BANK DEPOSITS IN N. H.

CONCORD, N. H., Aug. 10.—An increase of nearly $12,000,000 in savings bank deposits in New Hampshire during the past year, was disclosed today in the annual report of the state bank commissioner which shows that total deposits in the savings institutions of the state are $142,234,910.32. This is the largest annual increase in the history of savings banks and exceeds that of the previous year by nearly $5,000,000. The number of depositors has increased nearly 20,000, the largest increase ever made, and the average deposit is less than $500 for 290,000 depositors. The total resources of the savings banks of the state are $158,494,119.06.

POTATO LEAF HOPPERS AND POTATO LICE

We have repeatedly called the attention of home gardeners, says the Middlesex County Bureau of Agriculture, to the likelihood of serious damage to apple trees from potato leaf hoppers and potato lice. They have been very bad in sections, particularly in the dry sections. The apple men throughout the season have been experiencing serious trouble with leaf hoppers which ordinarily frequent potatoes more than they do apple trees. The first brood this year appeared to be worse on apples than on potatoes. The second brood which is now making its appearance, appears to be worse to date, upon potato foliage than upon apple foliage.

The apple men have been making a study of the control of this trouble and feel that they have nothing entirely satisfactory. The history of this insect has been that it becomes bad and when it is bad it's natural parasites increase in numbers rapidly so that it is only a short time before the parasites become so numerous that they clean up the leaf hoppers.

The men who are trying spraying, find that it is necessary to use the nicotine sulphate or black leaf 40 about double the usual strength and add a lot of lime water which is made from slaking caustic lime. This liberates the nicotine quickly and makes the men using it sick unless they are strong users of tobacco and have become somewhat immune to the effects of nicotine. It is suggested to back yard gardeners that the best way of handling this matter is to keep the potato vines healthy and growing rapidly. This may require additional applications of quickly available nitrogen such as nitrate of soda, sulphate of ammonia, liquid hen manure or the like.

Tomato Blossom End Rot

A great many home gardeners are being disappointed daily when attempting to pick their first few ripe tomatoes and finding them of no value, because of a rot on the blossom end. This trouble is known as blossom end rot and is likely to be more serious upon the first few tomatoes upon dry land and upon vines that for some reason or other are not in as good a physical condition as they should be. The proper thing to do is to remove these tomatoes, bury them or place them in the garbage can. In other words, they should not be permitted to stay upon the plot adjacent to the tomatoes.

Back Yard Strawberry Beds

Strawberries and all other berries, as a matter of fact, have been so very high in price this year, that many home gardeners are making plans to put in small plantings of strawberries, raspberries, blackberries, currants and the like. Those who want to put in strawberries, may gain a little time by making their plans now to put in pot grown strawberries within the next 15 days. The land, in the meantime should be thoroughly prepared and heavily fertilized. It is well always to use a piece of land that has been cultivated for more than one season in order to prevent trouble in the future from white grub. It is rare that a commercial grower or back yard gardener ever over-fertilizes the land upon which he contemplates growing strawberries. Use fertilizer or manure in liberal quantities and then use as much again, if one wants good results.

Save Winter Squashes

Quite frequently now in gardens where winter squash are being grown can be found vines here and there that are dying. If an examination is made it will be found that the trouble is in the main stem where it emerges from the ground. If the stem is slit up and down a small, white vine borer will be discovered. The damage made by this animal can be quite largely done away with by covering the vines at the different joints where leaves come out with dirt. Root systems will develop at these joints which will carry the vine even though the stem is entirely cut off where it comes from the original root system.

European Corn Borer

The larger share of Middlesex county is in the corn borer area. Home gardeners will do well to become familiar with regulations concerning this quarantine. Complete information can be obtained by addressing L. H. Worthley, Tremont Temple building, Boston. In effect the regulations are such that any home gardener should be careful in giving away corn or other vegetables from the garden to persons who

A Friend Worth Knowing

We make many acquaintances, some of which develop into friendship, but not all prove themselves true friends. It is just as essential that we have a reliable friend in the form of a medicine as a personal friend, so that when we are afflicted with various ailments we can have something we can absolutely depend upon.

The next time you have any stomach, liver or kidney trouble, and you are not already acquainted with the wonderful merits of SEVEN BARKS, nature's remedy of roots and herbs, we urge you to give it a trial, and we will predict that it will become one of your most valuable friends from a medical standpoint.

For nearly half a century SEVEN BARKS has been a valuable and timely friend to all sufferers of stomach and liver disorders. A trial will quickly prove its wonder efficiency, and after that you will never be without it, and gladly recommend it to your friends.

Doctor's bills these days run into money fast, and can often be saved if you will but keep on hand a bottle of SEVEN BARKS, the old-fashioned remedy that our parents and grandparents used to keep their families rugged and well.

If you want a friend that will stand by you in time of need, ask your druggist for SEVEN BARKS. Price but 50 cents per bottle, enough to last a long time.—Adv.

propose to carry it into homes outside of the quarantined area. In other words the government is endeavoring to hold within the quarantined area all forms of vegetables and fruit which might possibly carry the borer.

No Trouble to Keep Skin Free From Hairs

(The Modern Beauty)

There is no need for any woman to countenance superfluous hairs, because with a paste made by mixing some powdered delatone with water it is easy to get rid of them. The paste is applied for 2 to 3 minutes, then rubbed off and the skin washed. This treatment will rid the skin of hair without leaving a blemish, but care should be taken to see that you get real delatone. Mix fresh as wanted.—Adv.

REFUSES TO CLOSE CITY HALL ON SATURDAYS

BOSTON, Aug. 10.—Mayor Peters yesterday sent four vetoes to the city council, one of which was a council order calling for the increase of a probation officer's salary, and another the closing of city hall at noon Saturdays the year round.

The council order calling for the increasing of the salary of Registrar H. Mair, probation officer in the Dorchester district court, to $2200 was vetoed in line with the mayor's policy to have no probation salaries increased.

The mayor also vetoed an appropriation of $1500 for clerical assistance in the office of the clerk of the municipal court, declaring that such an appropriation is a violation of the so-called budget.

The council order calling for the naming of the junction of Columbus avenue and Tremont street as Thomas J. Conolly square, in honor of a Boston boy killed in the war, was also vetoed, the mayor contending that there is no necessity of changing names of squares to honor Boston's war dead, as there are sufficient unnamed squares to honor them all.

The ordinance amendment providing for the closing of city hall at noon Saturdays all the year was vetoed because "the diminution of the working hours of the city employees necessarily means an increase in the cost of service, for which the city is paying."

FIRE ALARMS

Shortly after 4:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon a telephone alarm was sent in for an automobile fire in the Chalfont garage in Shattuck street. At 4:57 o'clock a brush fire on the Alken street dump was responsible for a telephone alarm. At 1:24 o'clock there was an alarm from box 115 for a smoking stove at 473 Moody street. There was no damage.

Fine for Skin Exposed to Sun or Flying Dirt

These days the face needs special care and attention. Flying dust and dirt, the beating sun, are severe on any skin. Their despoiling effects are best overcome by the application of pure mercolized wax. This keeps skin and pores in a cleanly condition, the complexion beautifully white and spotless. Reddened, itched, freckled or by it. One ounce is actually absorbed by it. One ounce of mercolized wax, obtainable at any drug store, is sufficient to completely renovate a soiled complexion. It is used like cold cream, allowed to remain on over night, and washed off in the morning. Fine lines and even the deeper wrinkles often appear at this season. In such cases nothing is better than a face bath made by dissolving an ounce of pure powdered saxolite in a half pint witch hazel. This is remarkably effective.—Adv.

How Many Pedal Strokes Per Minute?

Surprisingly Few on the Gulbransen

Here is a test of player-piano efficiency which you should make before you buy. It shows you the relative effort required to play different player-pianos. This is easy to make.

Use a simple music roll—one with few perforations. Play the same roll on every instrument you test. Play it at the same speed each time. Pedal with only one foot. Pedal as slowly as you can without retarding the music. Count the pedal strokes in 60 seconds. You will find a surprising difference between various instruments. Some you cannot play at all with one pedal. Some you cannot play smoothly with one pedal. Nearly all will require very fast pedaling to play this way. But the Gulbransen—due to its exquisite pedal touch—you can play smoothly, leisurely, easily with only one pedal. Use full length strokes and you will observe that 40 to 60 strokes per minute are enough on the Gulbransen. This with only one pedal, remember. Make this test carefully, fairly. Be sure to make it yourself. When you have finished the test, please play the Gulbransen with both pedals. Play a piece you know and enjoy. Try to put expression into it—soft, loud, then soft again, as the music suggests. Notice the sympathetic, live tone of the Gulbransen.

GIRLS' BASEBALL TEAM

Lowell Nine Defeats Nahant Team in Initial Game at Lynn Beach

A girls' baseball team has been organized in this city and will play in eastern Massachusetts, in an effort to stimulate interest in registration and participating woman suffrage. The first game was played yesterday at the old New England league baseball grounds, Lynn beach, resulting in a victory for the Lowell girls over the Nahant team, score 4-3. Miss Swann, the crack Nahant twirler, went to the mound in the sixth, but was very wild. Errors were frequent. Margaret Tarpey, pitching her first game for the Centralville, did very well and received splendid support from Margaret Farrell and Katherine McPherson, who nailed a hot liner to the ninth for a double play that saved the game for Lowell. A large and enthusiastic crowd witnessed the game. On Wednesday the team will be the guest of the management of the "Macy" company playing at the Tremont theatre and on Saturday will play at Nantasket beach. The Lowell players are captained by Mrs. Burton Wilson with the following players: Margaret Tarpey, Mae Tarpey, Mary Farrell, Susie Farrell, Katherine McPherson, Mrs. E. J. Smith, Winifred Coleman, Tessie Burke, Annie Coleman and Mrs. "Nancy" Loughlin, young major catcher acting as mascot. The lineup consists of names whose names have long been identified with the national game and no doubt they will have success in their venture.

Red Pills and Female Weakness

When a woman complains of persistent pains and discomforts, one is safe in saying that she is troubled with a malady peculiar to her sex, and that she suffers from that disease, or agglomeration of diseases, which is generally called Female Weakness.

This disease is more frequently met in married women and women at the change of life, but still it also attacks young girls who have to work for their living. Female Weakness may be caused by various reasons, such as exposure to cold, lack of proper care, hard work, lack of nutrition, etc., but the main cause, and one which never fails to bring that disease on as a result, is Anaemia.

Anaemia will thin the blood, and lower the strength of its victim, and as soon as a woman becomes anaemic, the various symptoms which are usually known as female weakness will make their appearance. These symptoms are pains in the stomach, kidneys, often headaches, and always a tired feeling, and seldom good digestion, always bearing-down pains, irregular and painful periods.

Walking, even the fact of remaining standing for a certain time, and the least exertion, will increase the symptoms. If these symptoms are let alone, and if nothing is done by the patient, they will rapidly increase, and are apt to bring on more serious trouble.

The best treatment for Anaemia, and consequently for female weakness, which as a rule accompanies Anaemia, are Red Pills for Pale and Weak Women, and all women ought to start taking them at the first symptoms of weakness, and not wait until their trouble becomes chronic, their health broken, and their constitution debilitated by nervous symptoms, stomach trouble, and irregularities of all kinds.

RED PILLS are sold in boxes of 50 pills, 50 cents a box, six boxes $2.50. If they are not at your merchant's, they will be sent to you by mail on receipt of price. Franco-American Chemical Company, Limited, 212 Milk Street, Boston, Mass.

He is about to refuse the appointment when he is told that the girl and her father have secured positions in the village store.

There's the setting of "Sandi" To go into more detail here would detract from the pleasure of those intending to see it on the screen. However, one may hint that there are train robberies, safe-blowing episodes and a lot of human interest that makes the production one of the most appealing that has been shown in Lowell for some time. Mary Thurman, a newcomer to the screen, supports part as leading lady and presents a most attractive personality. The scenery is beautiful and the direction all that could be desired.

"Children of Destiny" featuring Edith Hallor, is the other feature of the current program. The play is taken from the well known stage production by Sydney Rosenfeld which had an exceptionally long run in New York. In its screen interpretation it has lost none of its interest, judging

THE STRAND THEATRE

The chief attractions for the first three days of the week at The Strand theatre are "The Double Dyed Deceiver," featuring Jack Pickford in the title role, and "Human Stuff," with Harry Carey as the star. In addition there is a clever comedy and interesting as well as instructive pictures of current events. The musical numbers by the theatre organist are also very enjoyable.

"The Double Dyed Deceiver" deals with a youngster from Texas, possessed with a strong desire for adventure who finds for a wife and a tropical town of South America. He doesn't have to look very long for excitement and in the course of a few days finds himself engaged in impersonating the son of the Duke family. Of course the natural son of Texas finds it difficult to acquiesce and accustom himself with the formalities of the Duke family, but he does finally acquiesce through the deception to perfection. A scheming official who originated them and directed the proposition, looks to the youngster to make a sudden departure and take with him a fairly portion of the funds with the understanding that he would divide it, but the young fellow refuses. The official threatens to expose the whole thing, but when confronted by the gun of the young Texan, he beats it for parts unknown.

A story of the plains is unfurled in "Human Stuff." It deals with a man who adventures for a wife and a tropical town of South America. But one can forgive such a slur, and a number of other lightsome quips at the Hub of the universe when it is Connie Talmadge who utters them, Connie of the instantly vampish eyes and who, in the interpretation of these light comedy parts, has no equal. ## GREAT FOR ECZEMA AND OLD SORES

I Guarantee My Ointment, Says Peterson—Every Box of It.

"If you are responsible for the health of your family," says Peterson, of Buffalo, "I want you to get a large 35 cent box of Peterson's Ointment today. Remember, I stand back of every box. Every druggist guarantees to refund the purchase price if Peterson's Ointment doesn't do all I claim."

"I guarantee it for eczema, old sores, running sores, salt rheum, ulcers, sore nipples, broken breasts, itching skin, skin diseases, blind, bleeding and itching piles as well as for chafing, burns, scalds, cuts, bruises and sunburn."

"I had 30 running sores on my leg for 11 years, was in three different hospitals. Amputation was advised. Skin grafting was tried. I was cured by using Peterson's Ointment."—J. E. Root, 231 Michigan Street, Buffalo, N. Y. Mail orders filled by Peterson Ointment Co., Inc., Buffalo, N. Y.—Adv.

at the Owl theatre for the first half of the week. It is the effort of two heads and hearts that think and beat as one—John Emerson and Mrs. John who was formerly Anita Loos, and, who, together, are famous for just such ingenious, bubbly, entertaining as "The Love Expert," produced by First National, it forms a feature that makes one forget sultry weather. It is all built around the fanciful conception of Miss Haus, a boarding school girl, that it is highly important to cultivate the emotions, as well as the sciences. She carried this cultivation of the emotions to a point where she was unconsciously fired from the school. The result of her research into love was a formula for knowing when she found the right man. "Hold hands—if you blush, if your heart throbs faster, if your pulse speeds up—you're in love." Try it on your best fellow tonight. This formula runs throughout the picture, and is the cause of many a chuckle. She tries it on her father's Boston branch manager with no result—first. She tried it on the minister, an assured young divine who has handled "many just such cases." The result is a scream. The Boston branch manager sticks in her crop, however. He can't marry until his two sisters and his aunt are off his hands—either married or—something. Babs undertakes the job.

And it is a job, you'll agree, when you see the two sisters and Aunt Cornelia. But Babs pulls through, even though she has to "compromise her own father." Dorcas and Matilda are apply hooded up, after a good deal of effort on the part of Babs, who uses her perfectly reckless eyes to telling advantage. Finally, it simmers down to herself and the Boston branch manager, and once more the test is tried, and with results this time. You'll very likely agree with the statement that Miss Talmadge has never looked prettier than she does in this rolling chair scene, and you won't blame the Boston branch manager for the bear-hug he gives her. You'll want to do it yourself, if you're a man.

LAKEVIEW PARK

REPLACING OLD SWITCHES

Employees of the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway Co. are busy ripping up the pavement around the corner of Central and Merrimack streets, preparatory to putting in a new set of switches, the old ones being pretty well worn out. It is expected that the removing of the old switches and the installing of the new ones will be done without traffic being interfered with in any way. At 11 o'clock tonight a large gang of men will be put to work and it is expected the old rails will be removed and the new ones installed before morning.

More Phosphate or Lose Your Youthful Looks

Lack of Phosphate in Blood and Nerve Cells Age Many People Before Their Time—Is Current Report

The people who stand up and laugh at hot, sultry weather are the ones who have plenty of phosphorus in their systems. If you are weak, become played out early on a hot day; if you become irritated easily, lose your patience and cannot concentrate your mind on difficult problems, then you need Piro-Phosphate, a pure organic phosphate that feeds your starving nerves just the food they need.

It is a simple matter that all modern physicians understand. If you, man or woman, desire a sturdy, virile body with an abundance of nerve force and endurance—if you want a keen, active mind that won't fire under severe strain, then you must have plenty of phosphorus in blood, nerve and bone cells and a pure organic phosphate known as drugsists as PIRO-PHOSPHATE is just what you need.

Get Piro-Phosphate as dispensed by A. W. Dows and all good druggists in the original package; it should revive and it is expected the old rails will be removed and the new ones installed before morning.

SAILORS SENTENCED FOR RIOTING AT REVERE

BOSTON, Aug. 10.—Four sailors commenced jail sentences at Deer Island yesterday afternoon as a result of their participation in the rioting at Revere beach Sunday night, and the 75 other sailors rounded up and held in the Revere police station following the riot, returned to the navy yard yesterday and will face an investigation by naval authorities into their conduct on Sunday night.

Officials Stirred Up

Navy officials were greatly peeved at the reports of the riots, and intimated that the reports of the affair given out were highly colored and that the sailors were given a "black eye" thereby. Rear Admiral E. W. Earle, commanding officer of the 5th division Atlantic squadron, refused to send a provost guard to bring the men back to the navy yard, as requested by the Metropolitan police, and so when they were let out the rear door of the police station yesterday the sailors returned to the yard as individuals.

Capt. John J. Hyland, chief of staff at the navy yard, stated yesterday that the sailors have always been a source of envy at the beach and officers there have more than once treated them roughly without reason. He said the order "arrest all men in uniform" was unjust and unreasonable.

Most of the vessels to which the men were attached sailed yesterday, and the sailors will rejoin their vessels at Newport, R. I.

A board of inquiry will be appointed by the commandant of the first naval district to investigate Sunday night's occurrence, and from its findings the officers will judge whether any of the 75 men are to be punished.

The two most seriously injured in the rioting—Bessie Cramer, 25, of 19 Shirley avenue, Revere, and John Muse, sailor, U.S.S. Florida, were both reported improving at the Massachusetts General hospital last night and neither name is on the dangerous list.

Get Six and Four Months

One of the sailors, Michael Caprin, 18 years, a member of the crew of the U.S.S. Florida, and charged by the police as the one primarily responsible for the rioting, was sentenced to six months in the house of correction by Judge Albert D. Bosson on the charge of disturbing the peace. Three of the other sailors, John C. M. McKlos, 19, of the U.S.S. Delaware; Wilbert Gardner, 21, of the U.S.S. Bridgeport, and Frank Ludon, 20, also of the Bridgeport, were each sentenced to four months in the house of correction. The latter three were accused of drunkenness also, and on this complaint each was fined $10.

As none of the men had entered an appeal from their sentences they were taken on the 10 o'clock boat for Deer Island. They were each, with the exception of Gardner, bandaged about the head with blood-soaked gauze, mute evidence of their unsuccessful encounter with the police.

Pasquale Sagana, 18 years old, of the U.S.S. Florida, who was arrested by the Revere city police prior to the riot, was also before the court on the charge of disturbing the peace. As the police stated his arrest had no connection with the riot, and in their opinion did not precipitate it, the court imposed a fine of $15.

Armed military guards from Fort Banks will assist in the patrolling of the beach until further notice, Mayor Fessenden Waleworth of Revere announced yesterday. Supt. Herbert W. West of the Metropolitan district police was in communication with the naval authorities relative to having a naval guard at the beach for the remainder of the summer. It is hoped that arrangements will be made for such a detail.

WHO PAYS FOR PNEUMATIC TRUCK TIRE EXPERIMENTS

WHEN an automobile owner's tire goes back on him he more or less cheerfully charges it off as a personal loss and tries to do better next time.

It is different with the motor truck owner.

Every tire must do exactly what is expected of it or be charged against his business.

Experimenting with tires is not the job of the truck owner.

The United States Rubber Company spent two years in developing the idea of putting a heavy truck on air before it brought out the first pneumatic truck tires. Even then it was not satisfied.

Even at that time it saw that you could not take an ordinary passenger car tire, enlarge it and make it do what truck owners expect of their tires.

It went back again to first principles—to the foundation—to the bead of the tire.

The car owner who seeks United States Standards in tubes is well paid in more mileage for his tires. U. S. Red Tubes. U. S. Grey Tubes.

It created a new type of bead construction, positively anchoring the cords. It put in the right number of breaker strips, stronger side walls, a heavier tread.

The result was a pneumatic truck tire—not an enlarged passenger car tire. Created to fill a need—not padded and bolstered up to fill a market already created.

There are still some sizes of U. S. Nobby Cord Tires you cannot buy. The market is there, waiting for them.

But they will not be released until this company is satisfied that they will do what truck owners expect of them.

The United States Rubber Company has never asked truck owners to pay for its tire experiments.

LOWELL SWIMMER IN THE MOVIES

Motion pictures of the attempt of Henry Sullivan of this city to swim the English channel will probably be shown in Lowell, if present plans are carried out. Thomas F. Soriero, gen-shown in Lowell as soon as any other place in this country.

For the first six months of 1920 there were 2771 suicides in the United States, as compared with 2642 during an effort will be made to have them the same period last year.

Rings—Murphy-Fitz Bout

Looks Good

Favorable comment is heard on all sides relative to the return engagement of Billy Murphy and Billy Fitzsimmons at the Crescent rink on Thursday night. If the weather is favorable a crowd that will tax the capacity of the hall is expected. The fact that the two men are in action here a week ago Saturday will be absent, while others who have read or heard about their former fight, will fall to miss the coming battle. The work of the pair in their last appearance has been the talk of the boxing enthusiasts ever since, and consequently all have good reason to expect that all members who are in a position to be on hand, will be there when the bell rings.

Young George Gardner (George Brooks) and Kid Lee of Chelsea will meet in the semi-final. They met a short time ago in Boston, with Brooks winning in the seventh round on a foul. It was a fast mill up until the illegal blow.

Young Duffy of Wolcott and Young Maloney of Lowell will meet in one preliminary and Benny Nelson, who has scored two knockouts in his two ring appearances, will meet a local contender in the other six rounds.

"Tip" Quinn of Lowell, who injured his left arm in his bout with John Murphy, still carries the injured "wing" in sling. He will be out of the game for some time.

Young Montreal's victory over Abe Friedman gave the Providence battler another boost up the ladder. In his appearance here against Joe Brock, Montreal showed that he was an aggressive performer, and while he lost the bout on a foul, he showed much class.

Jimmy Duffy, the New York lightweight, who appeared here on several occasions and always put up a satisfactory battle, has resumed training, and is seeking bouts in this city.

Charles W. Ettinger, the well known Allentown, Pa. sportsman, has a good stable of fighters, including Jackie Clarke, Allentown Dundee and Johnny Herman. Ettinger challenges John Wilson on behalf of Clarke for the middleweight title, and he believes he has a world beater in Dundee for the lightweight championship. Herman is a welterweight.

HAL HEAD GETS DECISION

U. S. ATHLETES IN

OLYMPIC TRIALS

ANTWERP, Aug. 10. (By the Associated Press.)—American track athletes faced their first real test in the Olympic stadium today in the final events which were to determine the American participants in the 100-meter dash, the 400-meter hurdles, and the 800-meter run. Men who came from America on board the Maritima and the Frederick competed in today's events.

As the opening day of the Olympic games approached, the stadium track and field are becoming crowded. The Swedish athletic team was expected to arrive today. More than 175 newspaper men have applied for places in the press box and every train and boat to this city brings throngs of visitors.

The cycling events have so far failed to draw a large attendance. The semi-finals and finals in the relay bicycling races were run today, followed by the great Velodrome race at 22 kilometers. Foreign entrants in Thursday's road race expect slow time because a large part of the route is over rough cobblestones. The highways were covered by the riders' pass through innumerable small villages, where the highways are very poor.

European Bicycleists Win

ANTWERP, Aug. 9. (By Associated Press.)—European bicycleists today captured the honors in the first bicycle events of the Olympiad. In the 1000-meters relay race, the Americans were eliminated in the preliminary heats by the Belgian team. The Canadians were eliminated by the South African team.

Peters, who is the Dutch cycling champion, took the 1000-meters in the slow time of 1 minute, 12.5 seconds. Johnson and Rydman, who were respectively second and third. Those three were the only riders in the final.

PLAY OF MEMBERS

OF DAVIS CUP

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 10.—The play of members of the Davis cup team held the interest of the gallery today at the annual Newport Casino lawn tennis tournament. Members of the team, with the exception of William T. Tilden, 2nd, who decided not to play, engaged in early matches to catch up with the other entrants, as they were not here for the first round yesterday.

William M. Johnston of the Davis team, met C. K. Shaw and the winner was scheduled to play Nat W. Niles on the club house court. C. S. Garland, one of Johnston's teammates, played J. B. Fenno, Jr. The winner of this match was to meet W. M. Washburn, winner of the Seabright tournament last week, on the championship court.

PLAYGROUND TEAMS

The North common playground baseball team defeated a team from the Greenhalge playground on the North common yesterday afternoon, 7 to 6.

The North common had mainly failed a lead up to the ninth when the score was tied by the visitors, but by a strong comeback the Acre players succeeded in turning the scales again. Chase pitched a good game for the winners and was well supported. Tomorrow the North common will play the South common and on Friday the Greenhalge team will again be the opponents.

MELVIN O. ADAMS DEAD

Noted Lawyer and Head of

Narrow Gauge Dies Sitting

in Chair

BOSTON, Aug. 10.—Col. Melvin O. Adams, one of the best known lawyers of Massachusetts, president of the Boston, Revere Beach & Lynn railroad, and trustee of many estates and corporations, died suddenly last evening at his home, 36 Beacon street.

He was sitting in a chair at a window with his wife, following a very busy day, when he was seized with heart failure and died almost immediately.

Karl Adams, their only son, who is assistant to the corporation counsel of the city of Boston, is at Narragansett with his family, but was notified by wire, and will be home today. Pending his arrival no plans for the funeral were made.

Born in Ashburham in 1850.

Melvin O. Adams was born in Ashburham, Nov. 7, 1850. He was the son of Joseph and Dolly (Whitney) Adams. He entered Dartmouth college in 1870. He entered Dartmouth college in 1870.

Although he determined to become a lawyer, he spent the first few years after college teaching school. In 1875 he received a degree from Boston University Law school and he was admitted to the bar the same year.

The following year he began to practice law in Boston and for 10 years was assistant district attorney, earning the reputation of being one of the ablest and most successful members of the Suffolk bar. He gained additional fame as a strong criminal lawyer by his defense in the Lizzie Borden trial at Fall River.

In 1891 he became president of the Boston, Revere Beach & Lynn railroad. He served on the staff of Gov. Brackett, where he derived his honorary title. In 1902 he entered the fight in the 10th congressional district. He was defeated by Eugene H. Foss. He was considered one of the best orators in the republican party in Boston and attended many republican conventions serving as an official at most of them.

He served as United States district attorney from 1905 to 1906.

Many Gifts to Native Town

In Ashburham, the place of his birth, Col. Adams was well known and loved. He gave many gifts to the town, including a $20,000 union schoolhouse named in memory of his mother, a soldiers' monument and Meeting House Hill pleasure park.

Col. Adams was awarded the degree of LL. D. by his alma mater, Dartmouth college, in 1912. He was always much interested in Dartmouth college affairs and prominent at alumni reunions.

On January 20, 1874, he married Miss Mary Colony of Fitchburg.

Col. Adams had a beautiful summer home on the Middle Brewster, and he owned a large part of the island. Among the clubs of which he was a member are the Union League of New York, Union, Unitarian, University, Exchange, and Boston Yacht clubs of Boston.

Since 1903 Col. Adams had been a trustee of Dartmouth college, and he gave largely of his private means to aid needy students. He was chairman of the committee which raised $250,000 to replace Dartmouth Hall, destroyed by fire. He was president of the board of trustees of Cushing Academy at Ashburham and a manager of the Farm and Trade School of Thompsons Island.

Much attention was given to the play of the amateurs, among whom were Chick Evans, former champion, and Bobby Jones of Atlanta, southern champion. Evans played with George Sargent of Columbia, also a former champion, while Jones was paired with Vardon. Walter Hagen of Detroit, defending his title, played the round with T. D. Amour, a Scotch amateur, and J. H. Barnes, former western open champion, started with John Bowling.

GRAND CIRCUIT RACES

CLEVELAND, O., Aug. 10.—The track was in good shape to start the second week's program of Grand Circuit racing at North Randall today, unless more rain caused another postponement.

Five races, including yesterday's postponed card, were on the program, with the American Sportsman three-year-old race, the feature. Other events included a 201 pace, two divisions of the 211 trot, and the first division of the 212 pace.

COX PRAISES SPEECH BY

F. D. ROOSEVELT

DAYTON, O., Aug. 10.—Interest of

Gov. Cox in the notification ceremonies of his running mate, Franklin D. Roosevelt, was manifested in a statement issued last night by the democratic presidential candidate commenting on Mr. Roosevelt's personality and acceptance address.

"Mr. Roosevelt's speech is characteristic of the man," said Gov. Cox. "It is a wholesome, sensible view of conditions, full of hope as to our future and radiant of the happiness of the individual."

"The western country will like this splendid type of progressive statesman. Following the two years of gloom and carping, captious criticism from the republican leaders, it will be a genuine refreshment in the great land. Mr. Roosevelt now enters for the people to meet a representative of government whose soul is possessed of the philosophy of joy."

Gov. Cox reserved comment until his future speeches, at least, on the statement of Senator Harding's headquarters criticizing his acceptance address. The governor's friends said it was not expected that his address would meet with approval of the Harding camp.

LOYAL INTEGRITY LODGE

One member was elected by ballot and two propositions for membership were received at the regular meeting of Loyal Integrity lodge, 6630, I.O.O.F., M.U., which was held last evening with N.G. George Osborn in the chair.

A sliding scale for initiation fees, which will go into effect October 1 was adopted and routine business was transacted. At the close of the business session a social hour was held.

BOSTON, Aug. 10.—Mrs. Francesco

Feel, wife of the man condemned to death by electrocution for the murder of Louis F. Soule on Oct. 25, 1918, came from Lowell shortly before noon yesterday to visit her husband in the death house of the state prison at Charlestown. Their meeting was an affecting one.

For 45 minutes Mrs. Feel remained with her husband, speaking words of encouragement and sympathy. Shortly after the left Feels' sisters from Lawrence arrived and remained with him for some time.

"I'LL MANDAMUS YOU IN ## NOSE," SAYS JUDGE

NEW YORK, Aug. 10.—After dispos-

ing of 550 landlord-tenant cases in one session here yesterday, hot weather caused Justice Morris of the second municipal court to postpone several hundred others until October.

In a court room crowded with mothers with small children who sought adjustment of rent disagreements with numerous landlords, Justice Morris, addressing the mothers, said that because of the intense heat he would continue the cases in which they were interested until fall.

The announcement roused the ire of several landlords and one attorney representing an apartment house owner threatened mandamus proceedings to compel early decisions.

"I'll mandamus you in the nose," responded Justice Morris holly. "I propose to protect the interest of rent-payers. It is too hot to turn them out in the summer and too cold to turn them out in the winter."

The announcement roused the ire of several landlords and one attorney representing an apartment house owner threatened mandamus proceedings to compel early decisions.

PLENTY OF WORK

It is pleasant news that comes from Agent Wadleigh of the Merrimack mills, president of the Lowell Cotton Manufacturers' association, that the mills of this city have an abundance of work ahead to keep them in operation, without curtailment, for some time to come.

It is natural that the closing of woolen mills should have led to a feeling of uneasiness among the factory workers, and that disquieting rumors regarding a possible slackening of operations and pay cuts should have gained wide circulation.

It will be reassuring to the workers and merchants of the city, therefore, to learn from a person so competent to speak from inside knowledge, that the mills are to go on running at their present capacity for an indefinite period.

The workers in some of the mills, who are to have a ten days' vacation beginning August 26, should be able to enjoy their rest period free from apprehension as to what the future conditions as regards continuous employment are likely to be.

From returns from other parts of the country, it appears that the cotton industry is enjoying a season of unexampled prosperity. In Fall River, for example, the mills have just paid the largest quarterly dividend in their history, the payments having been nearly a third larger than they were for the same period a year ago.

WATCH POLAND

It is doubtful if, since the days of early mid-summer six years ago when Europe was on the verge of the great conflict, there has been a condition of affairs so threatening to the peace of the world as that which now exists in connection with the Polish situation.

Premiers Lloyd George and Millerand have been in conference debating as to what measures shall be adopted to stay the onward progress of the Bolsheviks towards the conquest of Poland. Apparently neither nation desires to seriously take up the task of rescuing the Poles from their plight. Neither of them proposes to openly declare war upon the government of the soviets, but would apparently confine its help of Poland to the supply of food and munitions with such aid as may come from the official recognition of a blockade that has already been in existence for several months.

The truth probably is that neither nation is in a condition to attempt to make war upon the Bolsheviks if it can be avoided, and they are not wholly unwilling that Poland should be offered as a sacrifice to the soviets if the matter can be made to end there.

France very evidently appreciates where one of the chief dangers of the situation lies. She is prepared to inform Germany that the slightest move on her part to aid or abet the Bolsheviks will result in the prompt occupation of the Ruhr valley again by French troops.

When an Austrian crown prince was killed in the streets of Belgrade, the world could little appreciate that in the happening was the germ of the great war. Today it may be in the advance of the "Red" forces on Warsaw, and their prospective arrival at their destination, the world is looking upon the curtain-raiser of momentous scenes in Europe.

HEAT WAVES

Mother Nature cuts up strange dodos occasionally, but, if we watch the old lady carefully for any considerable length of time, we shall find that she is a pretty staid and consistent old dame after all.

This year we have had a summer that, up to the second week of August, might be called in some respects remarkable. Usually about the first week in July we get a heat wave. This did not materialize this year. In July, too, there is quite commonly a spell of what the farmers call "dry weather." This also, was missing this year.

Then just as people had got down to enjoying what they were coming to call the "finest summer ever," the thermometer, on Sunday morning, begins to do stunts, and a season of oppressively hot days is upon us.

Older inhabitants are always on hand in winter to tell of the times that they remember when the thermonometer ceased to register because it was frozen in the bulb, or the snow was so deep that it was level with the ridge-pole of Bill Jones', or someones else, barn. Likewise we are greeted on days, when the heat has imposed about the last burden that we think we can bear, by some jubilant, brow-mopping individual who tells us that the heat isn't to be compared with what it was the day before Garfield was shot.

As a matter of fact temperatures, draughts, snowfall and rainfall average up pretty much the same if we take into consideration any considerable period of time. It is fortunate that it is so, for a great many serious variations from the normal in the behavior of Mother Nature would prove disastrous to man and his interests on this globe.

STUDYING THE CONSTITUTION

It would be interesting to know how many people, since their school days, have attentively read through the constitution of the United States. The number is probably small, but it is not nearly so limited as the number of individuals who have really seriously undertaken to study and become familiar with the provisions of the document that Gladstone described as being "the most wonderful piece of work ever struck out at a given time by the hand and purpose of man."

It was in the closing years of the seventeenth century that the little band of statesmen, gathered in the old state house in Philadelphia, affixed their signatures to what has come to be the oldest written constitution in the world. They did not look upon the results of their joint handiwork with any great degree of hopefulness. Even the most optimistic among them entertained serious doubts whether the various states, with their local jealousies and conflicting interests, could be welded into a composite and binding whole under the constitution that they had written.

It is one of the marvels of political history that the thinly populated original thirteen states have grown to be the nation of today under the documents that the forefathers provided. A careful reading of the constitution will reveal some of the reasons why they succeeded beyond their dreams as nation-builders. One of them is that they set forth their intentions in such clear and unmistakable language, with such freedom from superfluous verbiage and involved phrases, that he who runs may read, and there has been scant opportunity for misunderstanding their meaning.

A society has recently been formed in New York, with Charles Evans Hughes and Cornelius W. Wickersham on its board of directors, that has for its purpose the promotion of wider familiarity with the constitution. It proposes to place a copy of the document in every American home. The work is worth performing. When a speaker in Lowell, of supposed at least average intelligence, can refer to party government as being provided for in the constitution, and another refer to the right of the supreme court to pass on the constitutionality of legislation as being among the constitutional provisions, it is evident that a much wider knowledge of the contents of the ancient document is desirable.

AWAY FROM BIG CITIES

Frederick A. Wallis, newly appointed commissioner of immigration, has been looking into conditions on Ellis Island, the great gateway through which millions in the past have made their entrance into American life.

As a result of his investigations he tells us that newly arriving immigrants are no longer huddling down in colonies of the foreign born in the big cities. They are going from the island direct to places of employment on farms and in workshops and the mines in small cities and towns.

This is certainly a most encouraging sign. The newly arrived foreigner commonly passes underneath the beams of the great torch held aloft by Liberty, the "silent warder at the nation's gate," with brilliant dreams of the new land of freedom, plenty and opportunity in which he is to make his home. These bright visions are soon dimmed by life in a big colony of the foreign-born in a big city. He often finds himself, perhaps, a bit worse off than he was at home.

The America of today has been made possible by immigration. We are still in need of more immigrants of the right kind. But we need to see to it that they are placed, if possible, outside the big teeming cities of the Atlantic seaboard, in places where they may be employed at useful labor and in time become assimilated as integral parts of the population.

Prohibition, a success? Read this from Lieut. Col. Emil Marschner, head of the Salvation Army industrial department in the states west of the Mississippi: "The day of the cheap 'flop' house has passed since prohibition came in. The kind of men who used to come to us asking for free beds or glad to get one for a dime, are now asking for private rooms with sunshine and hot and cold running water."

Be merciful Mr. Ponzi when you start in carrying out your announced intention to "twist the tail of the English lion." The caudal appendage of the poor old animal is already being tweaked from so many quarters that he is very nearly in a frenzy to know where he is at.

In view of the fact that probably no one knows exactly what the resources of the Russians may be, the threat of Great Britain to impose a blockade upon the "Reds" if they do not let up on Poland seems somewhat like saying: "Nicholas, if you don't quit, I'll slap your wrists."

There will be plenty of Mis-sourians hereabouts, willing to be shown, when the department of commerce places on exhibition, as it has promised to do all over the country, some of the paper suits, to sell at 60 cents apiece, that it has ordered from Europe.

The Sun welcomes the Boston Post to the ranks of newspapers that are anxious to have the business of selling Jamaica ginger for use as a beverage stamped out. If ordinary, everyday booze were a curse, "jakie" is proving itself a super-curse.

The department of agriculture announces that the deadly army worm is headed for New England, and the agriculturist, if he is wise, will speedily begin to prepare to mobilize an army of insecticides to be used in a fight against him.

If Mr. Long would make such a weak democratic candidate for the governorship as some of the republican newspapers are trying to make out, it is to be wondered why they are not booming him for the nomination.

What a nice quiet place Reverend Beach must be for a Sunday outing, by the side of the sad sea waves, with riot guns being fired over the heads of the crowd and soldiers prodding people in the ribs with bayonets.

A Lowell preacher says that "we can live under almost any form of government, for men have done it." Then we shall probably be able to survive four years of republican rule, if the worst should come.

Old-time theatregoers will learn with regret that James O'Neil, who has thrilled so many times with his declaration, "The world is mine," is fast slipping out of the world.

Note for future presidential aspirants: Before making arrangements to conduct a front-porch campaign, be sure to make arrangements with your opponent to conduct the same kind of one.

Tay Pay says that under the latest Irish coercion act "a man may be tried, convicted and hanged in secret." Any particular British statesman you would like to see that happen to, Tay Pay?

The fall dramatic season, that is getting underway in Boston, is almost as previous as the fall bonnets that are beginning to appear in Lowell shop windows.

A Holbrook, Mass., man, who has been voting 57 years, says every ballot he has ever cast has been straight republican. What a lot to be sorry for.

We suggest a new form of punishment for the man who asks, "Is this hot enough for you?" Sentence him to a ride over First street.

"Is milking cows to become a lost art?" asks the Boston Herald. The hired man hopes so.

SEEN AND HEARD

"God has placed no limits to the exercise of the intellect life has given us."

Will some one kindly inform the butcher that the wholesale price of beef has been going down for some time now?

Charlie Chaplin is accused of cruelty by his wife. The judge will probably rule that to get a custard pie in the face is exasperating but not cruel.

Personal Privilege

For the second time and without apology the man hanging to the strap trod on the toes of the sitting passenger. Barely evading a third crushing, the latter looked up and observed mildly:

"I know, sir, that my feet were made to walk on, but that is a strictly personal privilege belonging to me."—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

History Slightly Jauzed

On August 10, 1782—135 years ago today—there was born in England a lad who determined as soon as he could think to be a soldier and never let loose of the idea. Consequently, he grew up to become Sir Charles James Napier, famous British general, hero of the Peninsular war and the conqueror of a province in India. When he was 12 years old he had received a commission and he was a soldier until he died, his death being hastened by the frequent wounds he received in action. The moral is that anybody can do anything, if he wishes it enough.

The World's Beggars

Herbert Corey, the war correspondent, was talking about the beggars of different lands: "I have met," said Mr. Corey, "beggars of every description—silly beggars, blustering ones, old-beggars, robust ones—but the most remarkable beggar of the lot was a man whom I never met, yet whom I never assuredly will forget. All I saw of this beggar was his hat and chair. The chair stood on a corner of the Rue St. Lazare in Paris. The hat lay on the chair, with a few coppers in it, and behind the hat was a placard reading, 'Please don't forget the beggar, who is now taking his luncheon.'"

Couldn't Understand It

The battalion was resting beside the road toward the end of its 15-mile hike. After the weary marchers had eased their packs and spilled from their nearly empty canteens, they watched dispiritedly the energetic setting up exercises being gone through by a strange outfit in a nearby field.

"What's that there gang?" inquired Private Hanks of Oklahoma without enthusiasm.

"Infantry candidates, school," replied the corporal.

"Candidates? Infantry candidates? exploded Hanks. "My good gosh! Do you have to make application and be initiated to get into this mess nowadays?"

By Lee Hington

I heard a portly gent enthuse about the benefits of booze: "I could not live," said he, "without my daily morning smile, and life just starts to be worth while when I've had two or three. A snifter for the stomach's sake, the bible says, and what I take, you bet it does me good; I never drink a drop too much; these prohibition laws and such, they rile my very blood. The dregs are objects of my scorn—he paused to quaff another horn, remarking, 'Here's to you,' and when I didn't take the drink he'd poured for me, without a blink he buried that one, too. 'I often drink around the clock,' said he. 'I have a private stock that fills my cellar up. This life is brief enough at best; it lends a bit of zip and zest to drain the brimming cup.' Now this was several months ago, and this here poem ought to show that drinker's fearful end; it should, to make its lesson clear, portray him on his drunkard's bier, alone, without a friend. Nay, prosperous, he walks the streets, and many jiving friends he greets; his eye is keen and bright; to me whose brain begins to rear with half a glass of almost-beer, somehow it isn't right."

Telephoning

I go up to the telephone. And in a gentle, courteous tone I ask for Main 4563.

And Central says: "Four-five-O-three-ree."

And seems to think no more of me.

I wait a while, to let her rest. Before I urge my mild request. "What number?" she inquires, when I call her after counting ten.

Then sweetly says: "I'll ring again."

I listen, but no sound I hear. She has forgotten me, I fear. I sit quite wobbly at the knee. Like one who storms of wrath foresees. But she just says: "What number, please?"

I murmur, "Main, 4563." She says again, "Four-five-O-three-ree-ree."

I wait and wait till I feel dizzy. The while the whirling wire gets what. Then Central says: "The line is busy."

Hot Weather Hints

"Hints for Hot Weather" is a handy perennial. It simply has got to be done when the bathing and mosquito season sets in. Here are a few:

Get off the earth. Dr. Einstein gives you the choice of a limitless universe.

Keep out of the sun. Sit in the moonshine.

Avoid non-alcoholic "beverages." You can't get the other kind.

Don't use straws for votes. They look better in soda water.

Don't sit alone in a hammock after dark. The world is becoming overcrowded. Be economical of space. Give him (or her) a chance for a place in the moon.

Stick to non-irritating literature. Don't read George Bernard—Phaw! Don't think.

Attend political barbecues, accept campaign cigars, buttons, badges and

MAN ABOUT TOWN

There are humors even in the housing situation. There used to be a time when "To Let" signs were to be seen with more or less frequency, in the windows of dwelling houses. Nowadays house owners who possess such signs keep them carefully hidden away down cellar in a dark place on the shelf behind a row of preserve jars or elsewhere where they are not likely to get into public view. To display a "To Let" sign in a window at the present time would be to invite a neighbor. In a Lowell family awhile ago there was some tentative discussion about moving into the country. It was supposed that this conversation was carried on with diplomatic secrecy. But, somehow, the news leaked out. Then trouble began for the people of the household. People began to ring the bell before the members of the family were out of bed in the morning and they continued to ring it at intervals until midnight and later. They all had one errand. They wished to find out if it were true, as they had heard, that the family was to move and that the house would be to let. No one knows how the secret got abroad, but get abroad it did and spread something after the nature of wild fire. If all the people who applied for that one house should be compelled to leave the city a comfortable size dent would be made in Lowell's population. They tried to work upon the sympathies of the owners of the house by telling stories of woe that were calculated to soften the heart of a graven image. They were, some of them, willing to pay almost any old sum in the way of rent if they could only get a place to lay their weary heads and set up their household fires and penates. But, at last accounts, the house was not "to let" nor likely to be.

One of the most useful organizations that has been established in Lowell for some time is the traffic department of the chamber of commerce. In my opinion, such a department has been sorely needed in a city so industrially inclined as Lowell. Under the old board of trade, the secretary did what he could to keep in touch with shippers, but obviously with so many other duties, he could hope for no more than an occasional demonstration of real achievement in this sub-division of the board's activities. For the past month, however, the traffic department of the chamber of commerce has been in full swing and has already been in touch with 250 shippers, according to W. F. Whitcomb, its manager. At the outset, Mr. Whitcomb says, many of the local shippers were holding up outbound shipments on account of existing embargoes. The traffic department had them furnish a result the traffic department was being held up on this account and as a result the traffic department was very successful in pooling or rerouting this freight. A number of claims on which settlement had been delayed have been straightened out by the traffic department through close cooperation with the claims departments of the railroads. Various other services have been rendered since the department came into existence and it is rapidly becoming one of the chamber of commerce's most important subdivisions.

When the members of the Haverhill fire department baseball team visited Lowell one day last week for a game with a team representing the local department, Commissioner John F. Salmon, head of the Lowell department, invited them to inspect a number of the firehouses in this city and he tells me they were greatly impressed by the numerous facilities and accommodations furnished the Lowell firefighters. The local houses are kept in first class condition through the interest of the men themselves and since the double platoon system went into effect and meals have had to be eaten at the stations, arrangements for cooking have been made that have resulted in sections of some houses looking as comfortable and cozy as a private residence. The Haverhill visitors were particularly impressed by the shower bath arrangements here in Lowell. Few things have been left undone to make the

What has become of the petition filed with the municipal council several months ago by residents of Alken street and business people who have access through that thoroughfare, asking that Alken street be widened at its intersection with Hall street? The Man About Town was asked to answer this question yesterday, and his only reply was that to him it looked as though it had been pigeon-holed. The corner of Alken and Hall streets is one of the most if not the most dangerous in the city and if I remember well movements for the widening of the road at that spot have been started on various occasions, the first dating back to the days when the old charter was in force, but as yet nothing has been done to relieve conditions. When the last petition was filed with the council there was some discussion about the project at a couple of the city fathers' meetings, but nothing further was done. I was informed yesterday that at that time the council claimed the city's finances did not permit such a big undertaking. Later the mayor promised he would assign a traffic officer to the dangerous corner, but everything has been forgotten and conditions are the same as they have always been. If the mayor could see his way clear to assign a traffic officer at that junction until such time as the city can bear the expense of widening the corner, the petitioners would be very grateful.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

by Olive Robert Barton

IN THE STEEPLE

Mrs. Bat was the next person Tingaling took the twins to see. While he was collecting rents. It wasn't the first time Nancy and Nick had been in the church steeple, because they had visited the lady while hunting for Jocko, so they didn't have to be told the way. Up they climbed past the Sparrow's house and Mrs. Pigeon's apartment, until they reached the place where the big bell hung—and Mrs. Bat and her family; for they, too, hung from a pole all day, head downward.

hold their ears, really! When the noise died, a complaining voice from high overhead drawled out sleepily. "I declare, if it isn't Sunday again! It's very funny, for Sunday was only three days ago, and it used to come once in seven. If they've changed it, I'm going to move. A respectable bat family can't get a decent day's sleep with such a racket going on!" Tingaling gave another boom, and instantly there were six voices all crying at once.

So the fat fairyman found a stick, and creeping toward the big bell he beat a loud "boom" on it.

"Do be careful!" warned Nick as the fairyman landed near. "She's very snappish and doesn't like to be disturbed." "Don't I know it?" grinned Tingaling. "And just because she is so lussy, I'm going to play a joke on her." So the fat fairyman found a stick, and creeping toward the big bell, he beat a loud "boom" on it. Then another, and another, and another! Such a din! Nick and Nancy had to

"My goodness, there go the babies!" exclaimed Mrs. Bat. "Blackie, do get up and see if you can't get them to sleep again!" "I'm going to see what the farnation's wrong first," growled Mr. Bat. "It isn't Christmas or Thanksgiving, it's not Sunday at all, and I'm sure it's not Christmas or Thanksgiving!" His voice sounded so awfully mad that Tingaling and the twins made their escape at once, without getting a cent of rent.

URGES TEXAS TO START BREAK OF SOLID SOUTH

MARION, Ohio, Aug. 10.—In a telegram of greeting to Texas republicans, Senator Harding declared last night that "it would herald a new era in American politics" if this campaign could see a breaking up of the democratic solid south.

The message was sent to F. E. Seely to be read at the republican state convention at Dallas. It follows: "Please convey my most cordial greetings to Texas republicans assembled in state convention. It would herald a new era in American politics to have the great state of Texas lead in a new political alignment in the wonderful southland with all its measureless possibilities."

"I recently sensed the inspiring confidence of Texas in the capacity of our republic to work out a great American destiny, and I firmly believe that the interests of your great state are those of our common country which the republican party aims to preserve and promote. It will be fine to know that our organization has been effected to give voice and influence to the party sentiment in Texas, and add to the force of our appeal, the confidence of all the American people."

Senator Harding spent most of the day at work on correspondence. He held several political conferences, however, among his callers being James

RAILWAY POLE SNAPS

The breaking of a railway pole in Lowell street, North Billerica yesterday afternoon, caused an interruption of traffic for some time. The pole snapped off near the ground a couple of minutes after a Lowell-bound car had passed that point. As a result of the breaking of the pole the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway company will be requested by the Billerica authorities to examine the line throughout the town in order to prevent a similar occurrence.

LIQUOR SMUGGLING INTO U. S. CAUSES ALARM

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10. (By the Associated Press).—Liquor smuggling into the United States has reached such proportions that it has brought in its wake a large illegal traffic in other commodities. It was learned yesterday at the Treasury department.

Officials have become so concerned that they are considering a rearrangement of the government's coastal criminal chasing arms with a view to concentrating on what they described as a menacing situation.

The custom service, charged with protecting the country from smugglers, has found itself "wholly inadequate" to meet the situation, according to Assistant Secretary Shouse of the treasury, who is head of that government branch. He declared that customs officials were handicapped "both in men and in money because of a refusal by the last congress to appropriate additional funds with which the service could be expanded."

"It would require a small army of men to patrol the coast and border territories," Mr. Shouse said, but he believed such a plan was the only solution. He argued also that as the stock of liquor in this country decreased, the work of the customs service increased proportionately and that this outlook was not conducive to an early improvement in the condition.

Mr. Shouse declared it was no secret that vast quantities of liquor had been coming in although customs officers had confiscated "thousands upon thousands of dollars worth of ships which attempt to conceal liquor stocks on entering customs ports."

The larger supplies which officials believe have been smuggled in, however, have come not through ports, but through landings of launches and small boats in secluded spots along the Atlantic coast. Information gathered by the customs agents and prohibition

I SUFFERED THREE YEARS

Finally was Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Lowell, Mass.—"I was laid down and had an awful pain in my right side, was persistently constipated and had very dizzy spells. I suffered for three years and was perfectly miserable until a friend was telling me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I found it a wonderful medicine. I can now do twice as much work and I recommend the Vegetable Compound to other women. You can use these facts as a testimonial."—Mrs. M. THEALL BESSETT, 46 Chestnut St., Lowell, Mass.

Why women will continue to suffer so long is more than we can understand, when they can find health in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound!

For forty years it has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has restored the health of thousands of women who have been troubled with such ailments as displacements, inflammation, ulceration, irregularities, etc.

The letters constantly being published on women in every section of this country prove beyond question the merit of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

enforcement officials tended to show that immense amounts of liquor and in some cases, shipments of other commodities, had been obtained from sea-going vessels lying outside of the three mile limit and then transferred to the coast by means of small craft.

The Canadian border traffic, while admittedly large, was declared not to compare with the smuggling along the Atlantic seaboard, and, with reference to liquor particularly between the West Indies and the Florida shores. Topographical conditions lend themselves as an aid to the smugglers in that section, Mr. Shouse said.

EVERY FLOWER HAS A STORY OF ITS OWN

"There's a rosemary for you, that's for remembrance. Pray you, love, remember," sings Ophelia. That is the meaning, the rosemary has in the flower language.

An old superstition that was current during the middle ages was that three girls should gather on the eve of St. Magdeline. A liquid should be prepared from the rosemary of which each drinks. Without a word, they must then go to sleep. If the charm was not broken, the dream of each girl would reveal her future.

Called Mary's Rose

The name is derived from the latin, rosamarius, meaning dew of the sea, because it grows near the seashore and the leaves look silvery as if they were covered with dew. It was dedicated to the Virgin Mary and called Mary's rose.

A Spanish fairy tale deals with the dower. The king of Spain had a rosemary bush of which he was very proud. One day he was playing his flute. Suddenly a beautiful girl stepped forth from the bush. Startled, the king dropped the instrument and the maiden disappeared. The king immediately fell in love with the beautiful girl and when it was necessary for him to leave he gave the precious plant into the care of the head gardener.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10.—Proposals for the disposition of tickets, return coupons and Pullman car tickets bought before the effective date of the advanced passenger fares were submitted to the Interstate commerce commission yesterday by the Association of Railway Executives. The proposals are:

"One-way tickets sold prior to August 26, 1920, held by passengers en route August 26, 1920, will be honored to destination without additional charge.

"Partially used round trip or tourist tickets sold prior to August 26, 1920, will be honored to destination.

"Passengers actually en route at midnight August 25, 1920, will be carried to destination of sleeping or parlor car without additional charge. Surcharge will apply in connection with all one-way and round trip tickets of every kind where sleeping or parlor car space is purchased for use on or after August 26, 1920.

"Outstanding sleeping or parlor car tickets covering space to be used on or after August 26, 1920, will be honored only upon payment of the surcharge.

"Commutation or other multiple forms of tickets sold prior to August 1, 1920, will be honored within their limits.

"Commutation and other multiple forms of tickets bearing calendar month limit or limit not exceeding 35 days from date of sale, sold on or after August 1, 1920 and prior to August 26, 1920, will be honored within their limits.

"Commutation or other multiple forms of tickets, bearing longer limits than calendar months, or exceeding 35 days from date of sale, sold on or after August 1, 1920, and prior to August 26, 1920, will not be honored on or after August 26, 1920; but such tickets if wholly unused will be redeemed at face paid and if partially used, will be redeemed at proportionate fare.

"Tickets of any class sold prior to August 1, 1920, must not be dated ahead for use on or after Aug. 26, 1920, unless the increased fares are collected, surcharge must also be collected where sleeping or parlor space is used.

MEETING OF RELIEF FUND COMMITTEE

The newly formed relief fund committee of Lowell Post 87, American Legion, met at the post headquarters in Dutton street last night. Chairman Robert A. Glinvan announced the members of the committee as follows: Commodore Daniel Gray, Walter Sanborn, William Carr, Thomas McDermott, John Lorenson, Arthur Jacques and John J. Walsh. The large number of needy cases amongst wounded and sick ex-service men which the local post has had to deal with during its first year of existence has made the formation of a relief fund committee an immediate necessity. The fund will be started and maintained for the relief of all worthy comrades without assessment to the post members, as yet. The question of maintaining a relief fund by monthly assessment will not be taken up this year, according to present plans.

To establish the fund, the committee announced last night that a big three-night carnival would be staged at the Casino in Thorndike street, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, September 15, 16 and 17th. Admission will be 15 cents, which will entitle the public to dancing the entire evening. In addition, there will be a large mid-way with various attractions and other special features to be announced later. In order to maintain a relief fund, the post will have to depend entirely upon the support of the public, who will, no doubt, readily respond to such a worthy cause, as they so generously did in the days of 1917. The entire proceeds of the carnival will go towards the relief of the boys who did their bit in trying times, and the public is reminded that there is still a little debt of gratitude due the men who are not able to do a full day's work because of wounds incurred in service.

opened. The petitioners were represented by Frank Goldman and William N. Goodell, president of the chamber of commerce, made the rebuttal but announced that the chamber of commerce stood ready to abide by whatever the council should decide. The matter was taken under advisement. A decision will be given in a day or two and in the meantime the playground will continue.

Bird C. Reed, for 35 years a member of the fire department, was retired on pension owing to permanent disability. Commissioner Murphy received $8000 to piece out his original $10,000 sidewalk appropriation.

Meeting in Detail
The meeting was called by Mayor Thompson at 10:10 with all members present.

A hearing was held on the petition of J. Finberg and other residents of Howard street, asking that Howard street no longer be closed evenings for playground purposes.

Frank Goldman appeared in behalf of the petitioners and said that the petition was submitted because the playground had caused a lot of noise in the evening, had disturbed the rest of people living there and had seriously interfered with business in that section.

As a result of the establishment of the playground, Mr. Goldman said windows had been broken, a fence knocked down and a woman hurt. However, the damage was slight; the main objection was to the fact that 200 children played on the street in the evening and caused a lot of noise. People who attempted to drive their automobiles found it next to impossible to get their machines into the street. To the people on the street, Mr. Goldman continued, the playground amounted to a nuisance.

Mayor Thompson asked if the petition as filed were a bona fide petition or merely personally instigated propaganda. Mr. Goldman replied that as far as he knew there was nothing personal behind the petition.

Mr. Finberg, one of the petitioners, said he objected to the playground because of the noise and interference with traffic.

William N. Goodell, president of the chamber of commerce, said that the organization did not wish to force the playground idea on any section. He said that he had received innumerable expressions of appreciation for the Howard street playground. He felt that the petition, in a measure, was personally instigated propaganda and did not believe that the opposition was representative.

However, if the council felt that the opposition was the real sentiment of the residents of Howard street, the chamber of commerce would be only too glad to discontinue the playground or transfer it to some other section. The chamber would be glad to receive suggestions from the council.

It was finally decided to take the matter under advisement with the understanding that a decision be reached within a day or two. In the meantime, the Howard street playground will be kept open.

Commissioners Murphy and Marchand reported favorably on the petitions of the New England Telephone and Telegraph Co. for pole locations in Dracut and Princeton streets and the accompanying orders were adopted.

James F. Knight and John E. Caddigan were appointed surveyors of lumber for the George I. Cady company and Clarence C. Hildreth for the Walter L. Parker company.

The petition of Arthur M. Blair for a garage and gasoline license at 195 Hall street was referred to Commissioner Salmon.

A hearing will be held Sept. 7 on the petition of the Lowell Water Works for gasoline in Hampshire street.

Max Hindler of 43 Coburn street entered a claim for damages to his property alleged to have been caused on July 15 by a defective sewer. The matter was referred to the law department.

The quarterly report of the license commission for the quarter ending May 31 was accepted and placed on file. Commissioner Salmon reported favorably on the following petitions and the licenses were granted:

Joseph Suprenant, garage, rear 812 Merrimack street.

Turner Centre system, gasoline, 3 Thorndike street.

Tena Willis, garage, 47 Moray street.

William W. Dennett, garage, 409 Stevens street.

Milton D. LeBlanc, garage, 41 Lane street.

S. H. C. Motor Sales Co., garage, 103 Worthen street.

Retired on Pension

Commissioner Salmon introduced an order retiring Bird C. Reed, for 35 years a member of the fire department, on pension. Mr. Reed is 66 years of age and, according to a letter submitted by City Physician Michael A. Tighe, is unfit to perform the duties of a permanent fireman. He was injured while lifting a barrel on Jan. 7, 1920. The order was passed and Mr. Reed was pensioned on half pay.

To Sell Firehouse

The commissioner then introduced an order authorizing the sale of lands and buildings in Westford street, known as the Westford street fire engine house at public auction. The order specified the intention of the government to use the funds accruing from such sale for the acquiring of land and erection of another firehouse in the Highlands section. Commissioners Salmon and Marchand were empowered to make necessary arrangements for the sale and the mayor was authorized to execute whatever deeds may be necessary in the transfer of the property.

The mayor wanted to know if there was any way whereby the present government might be bound to spend the money received from the sale of the house for the erection of a new house and for no other purpose. City Auditor J. Joseph Heeney said that there was no way to bind a future government except by moral obligation and that was expressed in the order as drawn. Money cannot be appropriated until it is actually received, he said.

Commissioner Murphy said that he believed the passage of the order as written would be a poor piece of business judgment because the city might obtain more from the sale of the land and building than would be necessary to erect a new house.

The roll was called and the order was passed, 4 to 1, Commissioner Murphy voting "no."

An order appropriating $6000 for sidewalk construction was presented by Commissioner Murphy. At the previous meeting the commissioner had asked for $10,000, but later agreed to have the sum reduced to $6000. It was passed without discussion.

$24,000 For Improvements
The mayor introduced an order to borrow $24,000 for the acquiring of land for a public park on the south side of Riverside street at the Pawtucketville approach to the new Pawtucket bridge. His Honor said that residents of that section of the city had originally asked the city council for an appropriation of $50,000 for the improvement of the Merrimack river bank, but that they had agreed to a smaller appropriation to get the work started. The sum mentioned in the order would pay for the seizure of a building and allow preliminary work on the improvement project to be started by the park department, he explained. Later, if the government saw fit, more money could be appropriated.

The taking of land and buildings for the contemplated improvement is up to the park department, he said. The order was passed unanimously.

A similar order, appropriating $12,000 for the widening and re-locating of Locke street, off Gorham street, was then introduced. Accompanying it was an order to take land and buildings in Gorham street between Locke street and St. Peter's parochial residence owned by James H. McDermott and Sarah A. Smith or her successor.

Both orders and a vote authorizing the mayor to execute on behalf of the city the necessary agreements for the taking of the land were passed unanimously.

Following the approval of monthly bills the council adjourned at 11:40 until Friday morning at 10 o'clock.

THREATEN TO STRIKE IF ALLIES MAKE WAR

LONDON, Aug. 10.—(By the Associated Press).—War between the allied powers and soviet Russia over Poland would be "an intolerable crime against humanity," and British labor has warned the British government that organized labor would be used to defeat such a war. This decision was reached yesterday at a meeting of the most prominent of the leaders of British labor, who later issued the following statement:

"This conference feels certain that war is being engineered between the allied powers and the soviet Russia on the issue of Poland and declares that such a war would be an intolerable crime against humanity."

"It therefore warns the government that the whole industrial power of the organized workers will be used to defeat this war."

The conference resolved "to take such steps as may be necessary to carry the above decision into effect."

The statement addressed all labor organizations to be prepared to send their leaders to London "to instruct their members to lay down their tools."

Fisher Was Not Shot

Fisher was not standing in front of Lapon's house last evening when the defendant came out and fired two shots in his direction, one of the bullets grazing his neck. He said the shots were fired without the slightest warning, and denied ever going there on previous occasions. His testimony was corroborated by another young man, who rendered first aid. Capt. Brozman informed the court that the hospital physician who treated Fisher stated his injury had been caused by a fall and not by a bullet.

Lapon admitted firing two shots, but said he fired in the air in order to scare the couple away for fear they might steal vegetables from his garden. He said the shots were not sent in the boy's direction and therefore could not have caused the alleged injury. He argued that inasmuch as he was on his own premises he had a legal right to carry the revolver. After giving him a severe lecture Judge Pickman, the presiding justice, found him guilty and imposed a fine of $100.

LAWRENCE, Aug. 10.—Local applicants for chauffeur's license will be saved the necessity of going to Lowell for examination, if present plans of Alderman Peter Carr are carried out. He intends to secure permission for an examiner to come here frequently. The alderman called attention to the matter at the city council meeting. He said that considerable complaint had been received from local men who were required to go to Lowell to take the required examinations.

Alderman Carr intends, if an officer is assigned here, to give him an office either at Engine Seven's house on Ames street, or at Engine Nine's house on Bailey street. Either one of these locations would, the alderman feels, be

VILLA QUIT TO BRING PEACE

Declares Further Fighting in Mexico Means Intervention by United States

Crowds at San Pedro Cheer as Bandit Leader and Band Embrace Enemies

SAN PEDRO, Coahuila, Mexico, via Laredo Junction, August 10. (By Associated Press.)—Francisco Villa marched into San Pedro Monday night, between the lines of a cheering populace which greeted him with cheers of "Viva Villa." Behind him came his band of faithful followers, which with their leader, surrendered to the De la Huerta government under the terms agreed upon recently at Salinas. As he drew up before the main plaza of the Mexican town, a cheering throng of three thousand gathered around him, the chieftain indicating that he was about to speak to them.

Quits To Prevent U. S. Intervention
"I surrendered," he said, "because further fighting in Mexico means intervention by the United States. They call me a bandit. They call me the worst man in Mexico, but I would preserve our nationality by avoiding intervention."

There were 900 men in the band which Villa led into San Pedro, all of whom later pitched camp close by this little town after a 24-hour march across desert country without water for man or beast.

Villa's entrance into San Pedro marked the first time in 10 years of revolution that the bandit leader had neared a city without planning to conquer it or being a hunted fugitive.

Former Enemies Embrace
He was greeted and embraced by generals who two weeks ago were leading thousands of soldiers in an attempt to capture him. In turn, the bandit leader embraced his former enemies, and later in conversation with the Associated Press correspondent, declared he "was in a mood where I would like to embrace my worst enemies." "It is time for peace," he continued to the correspondent. "It is time for peace in Mexico. I have lost many brothers; thousands of friends and relatives. I know many others who likewise have suffered such a loss. Many others have had many enemies, but now I want everybody to forget their enmity and be friends." Villa said he wanted to show how "men could work who wanted to work."

His surrender, he declared, was due to his desire to see the country return to peace. One of Villa's soldiers told the correspondent that the campaigns in the last few weeks and months had been harder than work, so the men decided they wanted to return to work.

Villa, it is understood, will rest here for a couple of days, and then proceed to Gomez-Palacio to collect the year's pay for his men promised by the De la Huerta government, later to take up farming in Durango.

The army draft showed about 23 per cent of those who registered were illiterate.

SEEK COUPLE IN KIDNAPPING CASE

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 10. — Detectives today were searching for Joseph Damachuck and his wife, named by counsel for Augustus Pasquale, "The Crank," as the kidnapers of little Biskaly Coughlin. In his alleged confession, Pasquale is reported to have said that a man named "Joe" and his wife were the abductors. Benjamin F. Goodman, Pasquale's attorney, declares that he has identified "Joe" as Damachuck and that the police "are hot on his trail."

Despite Pasquale's denial that he had anything to do with the kidnapping, some authorities working on the case express the opinion that he was the actual abductor. He is said to have admitted that he has a wife and daughter, but has not seen them since his release from the Trenton prison several years ago. They also are being sought by the police. A deputy warden of the Trenton prison yesterday identified Pasquale as a prisoner who escaped from that institution in 1916.

The Cuban tobacco crop is placed at a value of $65,000,000, the largest on record.

JAMES O'NEILL, VETERAN ACTOR, IS DEAD

NEW LONDON, Conn., Aug. 10.—James O'Neill, the actor, died at the Lawrence Memorial Associated hospital early today. He had been ill for two months at the hospital, suffering from an internal disorder. His wife and sons were at the bedside. He was 70 years of age.

Mr. O'Neill had been in a state of coma for a month. He was left in a weakened condition nearly two years ago after he was struck by an automobile in New York. When his health began to fail last spring, he was sent to St. Vincent's hospital, New York. After leaving that institution he suffered a relapse and was brought here.

REGISTRATION SESSIONS
The board of election commissioners registered 76 women and 67 men at the sessions held yesterday afternoon and evening. Ward 9 furnished the largest number of women and Ward 6 the largest number of men. Sessions will be held this evening from 7 to 9 and tomorrow from 2 to 4 and 7 to 9. Yesterday's registration by wards was as follows:

Women—Ward 1, 10; Ward 2, 3; Ward 3, 9; Ward 4, 2; Ward 5, 5; Ward 6, 11; Ward 7, 4; Ward 8, 12; Ward 9, 20. Total, 76.
Men—Ward 1, 8; Ward 2, 7; Ward 3, 7; Ward 4, 6; Ward 5, 4; Ward 6, 3; Ward 7, 4. Total, 67.

REPUBLICAN OUTING
Saturday, Aug. 21, has been set as the date for the republican outing under the auspices of the Republican League of Lowell, Lawrence, Haverhill, Methuen, Andover, Reading, Woburn and the southern part of New Hampshire at Canobie Lake park. The principal speaker for the occasion will be U. S. Senator Moses of New Hampshire.

RAILWAY MEN'S WAGE HEARING

Vahey Calls for Living Wage for Men and Their Families

Says Financial Condition of Road Should Not be Considered

Street Railway Attorney Contends Carmen Are Now Receiving Living Wage

(Special to The Sun)

STATE HOUSE, Boston, Aug. 10.—That the demands of the carmen employed by the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway company for an increase from 51 to 75 cents an hour should be acceded to by the arbitration board sitting in judgment in the case, regardless of whether the company can obtain men at 51 cents an hour, was the contention made by James H. Vahey, representing the men on the board at the final hearing yesterday.

Counsel Vahey backed up his assertion by the statement that a living wage for the men and their families should have prior consideration over all other factors.

Taking issue with the argument advanced previously by Henry F. Hurlburt, special counsel for the company, to the effect that the financial condition of the road must be taken into consideration by the board, Mr. Vahey stated flatly, "The board is bound to award the men a living wage, regardless of its effect upon the company."

"The rights of the men come before the rights of the public," he added. "This case is here by agreement between the men and the company, and you, as the neutral arbitrator" (addressing Chairman Ogden) "are bound not to consider the rights of the public. The railroad labor board has recently awarded $600,000,000 increased wages to railroad employees, and other tremendous wage increases have been granted, without considering their effect upon the public, and properly so. It is the duty of this board to give these men a living wage. That is the sole issue."

Attorney Hurlburt's Contentions

Atty. Hurlburt contended that the men are now receiving a living wage, and pointed to the fact that according to investigations made by officials of the company, 147 employees own automobiles, and 23 per cent. own their own homes. "According to W. Jett Lauck, the economic expert referred to by the men," said Mr. Hurlburt, "a living wage in 1917 was $200. These men received from $1400 to $1800. It is significant that they have produced no evidence concerning their savings, or any evidence to show that they cannot get along on their present wages."

Insisting that the financial condition of the road is a factor which, despite the contentions of the carmen, should be taken into account, Atty. Hurlburt said: "I don't believe that men who have worked for this company from 20 to 40 years are ready to walk the streets looking for a job. If the company is forced to abandon its lines because it cannot pay an increased wage, I don't believe that Counsel Vahey is speaking for these men when he takes such a position."

Counsel Hurlburt then read a statement of deficits occurring on various divisions of the system during the last year. They were as follows:

Lowell, $70,000; Lawrence, $112,000; Brockton, $135,000; Haverhill, $65,000; Lynn, $138,000; Salem, $119,000; Gloucester, $130,000; Quincy, $275,000; Hyde Park, $395,000; Taunton, $336,000; Fall River, which earned a net income of $44,000, was the only division on the list showing a profit instead of a loss.

Contributions by cities and towns to help out the road amounted to $51,000 during the year.

High Fare Schedule

"The road now has a fare schedule fully as high, if not higher, than any road in this part of the country," said Counsel Hurlburt, "and the fares cannot be raised to produce increased revenue with which to pay the men, because the public simply will not pay the increase. The people of Gloucester, where the company had to abandon its operation, seem to be getting along very well without the cars. They have the jitneys and their own automobiles, and they have made no demand upon the company to restore the cars."

Atty. Hurlburt disputed what he termed the "modern" economic theory put forth by Counsel Vahey for the men, and adduced from the writings of W. Jett Lauck and the testimony of Arthur C. Sturgis, statisticians called upon by the men. "I thought I knew something about economics until I came to this hearing," said Mr. Hurlburt, "but regardless of what has been presented here on behalf of the men, I maintain that the old law of supply and demand should hold away. These men have their services to sell; that is their commodity in the market. If they are now receiving a living wage, as I contend they are, and there is a plentiful supply of labor, as the company's officials have shown there is, then under the law of supply and demand, there is no reason in the world why the company should pay its men higher wages."

Permanency of work was argued by Mr. Hurlburt as a factor of great importance in considering the advantages of the carmen as compared with other workers. He reinforced his argument by quotations from the testimony of Arthur C. Wadleigh, a trustee, and several other witnesses.

Counsel Hurlburt referred to efforts of the trustees to institute economies in the management of the road, pointing out that there is but one high paid executive, Robert B. Stearns, general manager, who receives $20,000 annually.

Attorney Vahey Replies

Attorney Vahey ridiculed the efforts of the trustees to save money for the road, as described by Mr. Hurlburt. "A majority of the trustees at least don't need the $5000 which they draw," he asserted. "Mr. Loring himself is worth many, many times $5000, and will not even say that he is not a millionaire."

The union counsel then took up the contention of Attorney Hurlburt that the cost of living has shown a decrease recently. Reading from a recent report of the Massachusetts commission on the necessities of life, he claimed that as compared with 100 per cent. as a basis for 1914, the cost of living in May, 1920, was 200.3 per cent.; in June, 1920, 195.7 per cent.; and in July, 1920, 202.6 per cent.

The arbitration board has no right to consider the law of supply and demand, in regulating the wages which should be paid the men, according to Mr. Vahey, who attacked the assertion of Mr. Hurlburt on this point. "This board is bound to award the men a living wage, regardless of its effect upon the company," insisted Mr. Vahey, and he referred to statements made by Mr. James J. Storrow, called as a witness by the carmen, in support of his attitude.

No Regard for Men

"The position of the company that the men should work for 3 cents an hour less in those places where it did not earn the cost of service illustrates the absolute lack of regard for the men by these trustees," continued the union counsel. "If this were carried out, it would mean a contribution of $34 per man, against the contribution of $2 per inhabitant by towns which contributed toward the deficit of the road."

Arguing in support of the demand for 8 hours work in ten, Mr. Vahey said, "The eight-hour day is inevitable. You might as well try to prevent the waters of the ocean from breaking on the shore, or the wind from blowing through the forest, as to attempt to deny to the workers the eight-hour day."

In reply to a statement by Attorney Hurlburt to the effect that working people are investing their increased wages in silk stockings and other luxuries, Mr. Vahey said that this could not be so in the case of the families of the Eastern Massachusetts carmen, "for upon a wage of 51 cents an hour," he added, "they would have to go without food, if they did this."

He then read from statements made by former President Taft while on the war labor board, to the effect that in the determination of wage awards, the financial condition of the company should not be taken into consideration.

Mr. Vahey, contending that an increase in wages would not wreck the road, pointed out that the advances given in other lines of industry have not, in reality, been of material factor in increasing the cost of foodstuffs and other necessities. In support of this argument, he quoted from statistics showing that the wage advance to the miners during the past few years had not averaged more than 40 cents to the ton of coal. In speaking about one-man cars, the union attorney declared that the men as well as the company ought to be given the benefit of more efficient service. He said this had been the practice in the past, when the use of improved machinery had brought about a lessening in the demand for labor. He saw no reason why the stockholders should derive all the profits from the use of an invention and the laboring man none.

Vahey Denounces Crowley

Mr. Vahey, in his brief referred to Trustee Crowley as follows:

"With the same importance that characterized Mrs. Partridge's efforts to stop the incoming waves of the ocean the company when put to its trumpets produced this kind of testimony."

"First let us briefly refer to Trustee Crowley (it seems only yesterday that he was Employee Crowley) who was asked to state whether in his opinion the men ought to get more money and who refused to commit himself, adroitly turning the subject off by saying that he did not know where the money was coming from. On these financial matters Trustee Crowley now scurries to cover like a frightened rabbit, although in 1915 as a member of the general conference board in the Bay State arbitration he claimed that the financial condition of the road should be totally ignored."

"Indeed none was more insistent than he that the men could no longer live on starvation wages; none was more cast down by the burdens of life than he, but he is pretty comfortable just now, thank you."

"For over a year he has struggled along on a salary of $5000 a year and will continue to do so for many years until the gloomy predictions of Chairman Loring respecting the bankruptcy of the company are justified. For over a year Mr. Crowley has been close to the throne. He has ample opportunity of absorbing the un-economic ideas of Messrs. Loring and Wadleigh. Men of their dominating personalities could blow the whistle down person about whether so ever they pleased."

"Trustee Crowley has forgotten memories of other days, the trials and tribulations of his fellow men no longer appeal to him, with that degree of intensity that they did a few years ago before fortune began to smile upon him."

(Stop here and read as you pass by, as you are now, so once was I.)

The entire hearing came to an end today, and the decision in the case, it is expected, will be announced within a few weeks.

DEATHS

CASEY—Leo Casey, died last night at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Casey, 123 Cross street, aged 10 years, 1 month and 7 days. He leaves besides his parents, two sisters, May E. and Catherine V., and four brothers, John F., James P., Joseph N., and Mark M. Casey.

McGATH—Frederick A. Metcalf of Lowell, Mass., formerly of this city, died Sunday at the Morton hospital, leaving besides his parents, who live in Taunton, Mr. Metcalf was born in this city, the eldest son of George E. Metcalf and Arabella A. Metcalf. He was educated in the public schools of Lowell and at Dartmouth college. He was for some time chemist at the Merrimack print works, leaving Lowell more than 20 years ago to assume a similar position at the Passaic print works, Passaic, N. J. There he remained until falling ill, and was removed to the country, where he died.

Careless Shampooing Spoils the Hair

Soap should be used very carefully. If you want to keep your hair looking its best. Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and ruins it.

The best thing for steady use is Mul-sified coconut oil shampoo (which is pure and greaseless), and is better than anything else you can use.

One or two teaspoonfuls will cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, which rinses out easily, removing every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves the scalp soft, and the hair fine and silky, bright, lustrous, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get Mul-sified coconut oil shampoo at any pharmacy, it's very cheap, and a few ounces will supply every member of the family for months.—Adv.

ADMIRAL DECKER IS ORDERED TO NEWPORT

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10.—Captain J. L. Lathimer, now attached to the naval war college, Newport, R. I., has been appointed commandant of the Seventh naval district with headquarters at Key West, Fla., succeeding Rear Admiral Benton C. Decker, who has been ordered to Norfolk to serve on a permanent naval board of inquiry.

Secretary Daniels would not comment on the removal of Admiral Decker other than to say that it was "routine." The admiral recently wrote and made public a letter to Chairman Page of the senate naval investigating committee, in which he severely criticized Mr. Daniels' administration of the navy department and supported Rear Admiral Sims' position in the latter's row with the secretary.

THIS FAMILY WAS BROUGHT UP ON FATHER JOHN'S MEDICINE

Mr. Daniel L. Donovan, of 171 Randolph ave., Jersey City, N. J., is a firm believer in the value of Father John's Medicine. He is the father of a fine family of four children. Three generations are shown in the photograph and all have used Father John's Medicine with benefit. Mr. Donovan says, "I can recommend Father John's Medicine to anyone for coughs and colds. It has been a great medicine for building up my two little girls and their grandmother has also taken it with good results. It has certainly done us all a world of good." (Signed) Mr. Daniel L. Donovan.

A great many families depend on Father John's Medicine as the standard family medicine for older people as well as children. They know it is safe for all the family because it is guaranteed free from alcohol or dangerous drugs in any form.—Adv.

ment on his checks, would result in another run by holders of notes of the Securities Exchange Co., but few persons appeared. Those who called were told that no payments would be made and were asked to return again on Saturday.

Auditor Still at Work

Just how much Ponzi owes on these notes of the Securities Exchange Co., on which he has been paying 50 per cent interest in 45 days, had not been determined. An auditor employed by United States Attorney Gallagher was still at work on the books today. Ponzi was called into conference with Mr. Gallagher and the auditor, Edwin L. Priddy, yesterday, and was said by his attorneys to be checking up on the audit. The business in hand had not been completed when the conference broke up, and it was said it might be resumed today.

Bankruptcy Petition

No further steps are expected until August 16 in connection with an involuntary bankruptcy petition filed against Ponzi yesterday. On that day the subpoena issued by the bankruptcy court is returnable. This action against Ponzi was brought by three local noteholders whose claims aggregated $750. Their petition alleged that Ponzi had transferred a large part of his assets to others.

Ponzi reiterated, after the action of the bank commissioner was announced that his liabilities were approximately $500,000, and that when the exact amount was ascertained, he would produce assets sufficient to cover them. He declared the action of the officials unwarranted.

Ponzi Undisturbed

Ponzi appeared to be undisturbed by the various moves yesterday of investigating officials in connection with his Securities Exchange Co. While extra editions of the newspapers were being circulated last night telling of the bankruptcy petition, the bank commissioner's action and the statement issued by Attorney General Allen, Ponzi and his wife sat in a box at a theatre apparently thoroughly enjoying a first night performance. This morning he showed no haste to get into the city from his home and clerks at his office said they had no instructions from him.

Denied by Manchester Agent

MANCHESTER, N. H., August 10.—Joseph Brano today absolutely denied that Ponzi's bank account here, said to be $275,000, had been transferred to him (Brano) by order of Attorney General Young, without the consent of Ponzi.

REDS CLOSING IN ON WARSAW

Cut Warsaw-Danzig R. R.—Lloyd George Still Hopeful of Peace

Allies Oppose Sending Troops to Aid Poland—To Continue Supplying Munitions

LONDON, Aug. 10. (By Associated Press.)—"I am still hopeful of peace," were the opening words of Premier Lloyd George's announcement in the house of commons today with regard to the Russo-Polish crisis.

The house was crowded and the tension was high in anticipation of the premier's "peace or war" statement. As he entered, he was warmly cheered.

Mrs. Krassien and Kamenoff of the Russian soviet delegation here, were in the strangers' gallery.

Mr. Lloyd George declared that the Polish attack was not justified in the opinion of the British government and that the soviet government in any conditions of peace was entitled to take into account the facts of the attacks made by the Poles upon Russia and that those attacks were delivered despite the warnings of the allies to Poland.

The soviet, he declares, was entitled to demand such guarantees as would be exacted by any power against a repetition of attacks of that kind. What was challenged, he said was that "nothing justified retaliation, reprisal or punishment which goes to the extent of wiping out national existence."

"A part altogether from the moral right of any power to demand the extinction of another nation as punishment for the aggression of its government," Premier Lloyd George said, "Europe has to be considered. The independence of Poland and its existence as an independent nation is an essential part of the structure of European peace. Repartition of Poland would not merely be a crime; it would be a peril and we have to consider both these contingencies as a basis for our policy."

The premier declared that the sole purpose of the allied policy was to secure peace on a basis of independence for ethnographical Poland. He said the Hythe conference agreed that the allies should advise Poland to endeavor to negotiate an armistice and make peace as long as such independence was recognized. That recommendation has been forwarded to the soviet government, the premier stated.

HEAVY GUARD AS MANNIX ARRIVES

Australian Archbishop Reaches London—Train Flanked—Platform Guarded

Even Priests Not Allowed to Greet Prelate Until He Passed Barriers

LONDON, August 10.—Archbishop Daniel J. Mannix of Australia, who was landed yesterday at Penzance by a British destroyer which had taken him from on board the White Star liner Baltic, off the Irish coast, arrived here at 6 o'clock, this morning. A less impressive welcome for the archbishop could hardly have been staged than that which greeted him at Paddington station. Only the late editions of last evening's newspapers published the fact that he had landed at Penzance and was coming to this city. Therefore only a few knew that he was to arrive early today.

The police had made arrangements to care for a much larger crowd than that formed by a few priests, representatives of the Irish self-determination league, and reporters who had awaited the train.

Railway officials had arranged for his train to be flanked on either side by other trains, and both ends of the platform were guarded by police and detectives.

Even the priests were not allowed to greet the archbishop until he had passed the barriers into the station proper. Here the police had some difficulty in handling even such a small crowd, as nearly everyone insisted on kneeling before the archbishop and kissing his hand.

Will Attempt To Go to Ireland
Editors of those who took Archbishop Mannix from the station to evade the public seemed to lend strength to statements of Irishmen that the Australian prelate will attempt to go to Ireland notwithstanding the government's determination that he shall not.

He was first led to the subway platform, and then suddenly hurried to an automobile in which his luggage had been placed. He was driven to the home of a priest in the suburbs.

The archbishop declined to say whether he had any plans for the immediate future, and would not disclose what he intended to do during his stay in England.

FISHER WAS NOT SHOT

Injury Caused by Fall; Not by Bullet—Laponi Fined One Hundred Dollars

Fearing they might steal vegetables from his garden, Vincenzo Laponi, a resident of Livingston street, fired two revolver shots in the air last evening, when he saw a couple standing on the sidewalk near his home. When the shots were fired the young man, who was talking with a young woman, dropped to the ground and the first report was that he had been shot in the neck. The ambulance was summoned and the injured man was taken to St. John's hospital, where it was found that he was suffering from a slight wound in the neck, caused by his fall and not by a bullet.

Vincenzo was placed under arrest and at this morning's session of the police court he was charged with unlawfully carrying a revolver. He pleaded not guilty. Philip Fisher of 10 Ruel's place, the young man who was alleged to have been shot, testified.

FIREHOUSE TO BE SOLD

City Council Votes to Sell Westford Street Engine House

Orders Passed for Locke Street and Pawtucketville Improvements

Howard Street Playground Taken Under Advisement—Fireman Reed Pensioned

The Westford street firehouse, one of the oldest buildings of the fire department, which has been closed for the past few months, will be sold at public auction in the immediate future and the money accruing from its sale used for the erection of a firehouse in the outer section of the Highlands, according to an order passed by the municipal council at its regular weekly meeting this morning.

Commissioner John F. Salmon, head of the fire department, and Commissioner George E. Marchand, head of the department of public property and licenses, were authorized to make arrangements for the sale. By including in the order for the sale of the land and building its intention of using the funds received therefrom for the purpose of erecting a new house, the council bound itself by moral obligation to spend the money for no other purpose, although legally the council has no right to specify what shall be done with the money until it is actually received.

Commissioner Dennis A. Murphy refused to vote for the order, maintaining that it was poor business policy to bind the council to using money that will be received from the sale for any specific purpose when the city may have to go out and borrow funds to carry on its department work. However, the order had four votes and was carried.

The council also appropriated $14,000 for the much-heralded Locke street and Pawtucketville improvements. Two orders, each calling for the borrowing of $12,000 were passed with practically no discussion.

A hearing was given on the petition of residents of Howard street that the evening playground recently established there be closed and the street reopened. The petitioners were represented by Frank Goldman and William N. Goodell, president of the chapter.

HOT WAVE STILL WITH US

Life-Saving Breeze Today, But Humidity Retains Its Punch

The hot wave which broke over Lowell Sunday morning continued today and despite valiant efforts on the part of the weather man to send cooling showers this morning, the day was just as disagreeable as the two which had preceded. Their energies sapped by the prolonged humidity and heat, Lowell men, women and children faced the third day of the warm spell with little reserve strength.

Showers broke over the city early in the morning but sufficed only to give rise to an unwarranted hope in the breasts of many that a long, soaking rain was at last at hand. The day remained semi-cloudy. At 2 o'clock this afternoon, the thermometer registered 84, slightly less than at the same time yesterday, but the humidity continued just as high. There was a trifle more breeze today than yesterday.

Firemen visited the congested districts and areas surrounding the local hospitals last evening to wet down scorching pavements. The commons were again the resorts of hundreds during the evening, many of whom spent the entire night there. The weather indications say that it will continue warm with a possibility of thunder storms this evening.

MARION, Ohio, Aug. 10.—Major questions of political strategy, together with many details of party management, were given consideration by Senator Harding today in consultation with active leaders of his campaign.

Office Opened But Few People Appear for Money—Wizard Undisturbed

BOSTON, Aug. 10.—Clerks at the School street office of Charles Ponzi, whose claims that he made millions in foreign exchange operations are disputed by state and federal officials, found little to demand their attention when the office was opened at the usual hour today.

Ponzi had predicted that the action of the state bank commissioner Joseph C. Allen, yesterday, in stopping payments, would result in a rush.

EXPRESS MEN GET INCREASE

Labor Board Hands Down Decision Increasing Wages $30,000,000 Yearly

80,000 Men Share in Raise, Amounting to 16 Cents an Hour, Retroactive to May 1

CHICAGO, Aug. 10.—The United States railway labor board today handed down a decision increasing wages of employees of the American railway express $30,000,000 yearly. Eighty thousand men not provided for by the recent $600,000,000 railway wage award are affected.

The award is retroactive to May 1, 1920. The wage increase, amounting to 16 cents an hour, will give messengers and other train service employees an increase of $3.40 a month. All other employees will receive an increase of $32.64.

Train service employees work on a 240 hour a month basis, while other employees work on a 204 hour basis.

Under the terms of the Esch-Cummings transportation act, the express company will be permitted to raise its rates sufficiently to meet the increased labor cost. Arguments in the railroad award case have been presented before the interstate commerce commission.

Today's award does not go into the question of rules and working conditions. As was the case last month, when the board granted a $500,000,000 increase to railway employees it was announced a decision covering new working rules would be handed down later.

The award to express men is slightly better than the average increase to the railroad men, the board finding that express employees as a class, were not so well paid as men in other lines of railroad work.

For the purposes of the award, the board divided express employees in five classes, but the increase granted was in each case the same, 16 cents an hour. Messengers and other employees in the train service whose hours are computed on a basis of a 240 hour month, will receive an increase of $32.64. All other employees working on the 204 hour per month basis will receive $32.64 more. The board directs that pay from May 1 to August 31 will be paid to employees separately from their September checks, in order that they may know the exact amount of back pay received.

Describing conditions in the express service, the board says in its decision: "As in the case of the railroad employees, this long delay and succession of disappointments (referring to the unsuccessful efforts of the men

$12,000,000 INCREASE IN BANK DEPOSITS IN N. H.

CONCORD, N. H., Aug. 10.—An increase of nearly $12,000,000 in savings bank deposits in New Hampshire during the past year, was disclosed today in the annual report of the state bank commissioner which shows that total deposits in the savings institutions of the state are $142,294,918.82. This is the largest annual increase in the history of savings banks and exceeds that of the previous year by nearly $1,000,000. The number of depositors has increased nearly 20,000, the largest increase ever made, and the average deposit is less than $500 for 290,000 depositors. The total resources of the savings banks of the state are $158,054,119.06.

TENNIS TOURNAMENT

Williams and Johnston
Win Their Matches in Singles Play

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 10.—R. Norris Williams 2nd, and William Johnston of the Davis cup team, won their matches in the singles play in the annual Newport Casino lawn tennis tournament today but the third member of the team in the competition, C. F. Garland, went down in straight sets before the rushing tactics of W. F. Washburn. In view of Washburn's brilliant playing at Seabright and in other tournaments this year, the result was not regarded as surprising, for Garland was suffering from lack of practice as he had not touched a racket since he played at Wimbledon.

Williams defeated Theodore R. Pell without much effort, having apparently found his shore legs more quickly than had his teammate, Johnston, the national champion, who several times was within a point or two of defeat at the hands of Nat W. Miles of Boston.

There was much disappointment at the Casino over the failure of W. T. Tilden, the world champion, to put in an appearance. His match in the first round was defaulted to A. S. Dabney.

MAINE WOMEN BEGIN STUMP CAMPAIGN

LEWISTON, Me., Aug. 10.—Maine women are not waiting for the ratification of suffrage before jumping into the political campaign of this year.

Already they have started stumping the state. They are proving themselves quick pupils at the game of politics, and by stumping the state is meant exactly the same thing as when male politicians go upon a stumping trip.

The Maine women have demonstrated that they can make political speech while standing on a store platform at the crossroads, or in an automobile in the village square—yes, even standing in the middle of the road in a small town, as easily as in a hall. They have quickly caught on to the art of shaking hands and holding confidential chats with prospective voters.

Although these women up in Maine do not feel certain that they will be able to vote at the September election, they are working along lines which will find them prepared, should the 36th state ratify the suffrage amendment in time for them to vote for governor and congressmen. They are, however, very hopeful that at the November election they will be able to vote for presidential electors.

The legislature of 1919 enacted a law granting the women of Maine presidential suffrage. The anti-suffrage workers circulated petitions and secured the requisite 12,000 names to necessitate submitting this law to the voters of the state for approval before it could become operative. This referendum will be held at the regular state election, Tuesday, Sept. 13. While the women are out stumping at this time for the election of their favorite ticket, both in September and November, they are all urging the voters to endorse the presidential suffrage law so that Maine women may vote for president this year, even though the Anthony amendment to the federal constitution shall not be ratified before that date.

M. C. LEGISLATURE MEETS TO CONSIDER RATIFICATION OF SUFFRAGE AMENDMENT

RALEIGH, N. C., Aug. 10.—The legislature met today in extraordinary session to consider ratification of the federal suffrage amendment and local tax matter. Ratification was not mentioned in the message from Governor Bickett read at the opening session, but the governor has announced that he will submit the amendment Thursday with a special message recommending its approval.

A Friend Worth Knowing

We make many acquaintances, some of which develop into friendship, but not all prove themselves true friends. It is just as essential that we have a reliable friend in the form of a medicine as a personal friend, so that when we are afflicted with various ailments we can have something we can absolutely depend upon.

The next time you have any stomach, liver or kidney trouble, and you are not already acquainted with the wonderful merits of SEVEN BARKS, nature's remedy of roots and herbs, urge you to give it a trial, and we will predict that it will become one of your most valuable friends from a medical standpoint.

For nearly half a century SEVEN BARKS has been a valuable and timely friend to all sufferers of stomach and liver disorders. A trial will quickly prove its wonder efficiency, and after that you will never be without it, and gladly recommend it to your friends.

Doctor's bills these days run into money fast, and can often be saved if you will but keep on hand a bottle of SEVEN BARKS, the old-fashioned remedy that our parents and grandparents used to keep their families rugged and well.

If you want a friend that will stand by you in time of need, ask your druggist for SEVEN BARKS. Price, 60 cents per bottle, enough to last a long time.—Adv.

EXAMINATIONS FOR GOOD POSITIONS

Notice has been received in this city from the office of the commissioner of civil service, Payson Dana, that examinations for a number of desirable positions will be conducted in the near future, and that as far as is practicable, such examinations will be held in Lowell among other designated cities in the commonwealth.

No Trouble to Keep Skin Free From Hairs

(The Modern Beauty)

There is no need for any woman to countenance superfluous hairs, because with a paste made by mixing some powdered delatone with water it is easy to get rid of them. The paste is applied for 2 to 3 minutes, then rubbed off and the skin washed. This treatment will rid the skin of hair without leaving a blemish, but care should be taken to see that you get real delatone. Mix fresh as wanted.—Adv.

On Aug. 26, examination will be held for the position of "master" of the house of correction, Deer Island; on Sept. 2, for policemen for the Boston police department and on Sept. 3, for stationary engineers, stationary firemen and marine engineers.

Application blanks for any of these examinations may be obtained by applying in person, or by letter, to James H. Carmichael, Lowell.

NEW HAIR after BALDNESS

If you are losing hair, have it fall out, or are bald, use the hair restorer, containing natural hair oil and other potent ingredients, is wonderfully successful. ## BUMPER CORN CROP PREDICTED

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10.—A three-billion bushel corn crop for the third time in the history of the country was forecast yesterday by the department of agriculture on the basis of conditions existing Aug. 1. Inasmuch as August is the critical month for the crop in the great corn belt of the middle west, it is uncertain whether the promise of a crop almost equal to the enormous ones of 1913 and 1917 will be fulfilled. Improvement was reported during July in the important corn states with the exception of Illinois and as a result, a crop forecast 274,000,000 bushels larger than that predicted July 1 was issued.

The long lasting little flowers called "immortelles" in France have grown in popularity for decorating soldiers' graves.

UNFILLED ORDERS OF U. S. STEEL

NEW YORK, Aug. 10.—Unfilled orders of the United States Steel corporation for the month ending July 31, were 11,115,463 tons, it was announced today. This is an increase of 139,651 tons over the previous month, when the figures were 10,975,812.

The unfilled tonnage reported today brings the total up to the highest figure since July, 1917, when unfilled orders aggregated 10,844,164 tons.

Fine for Skin Exposed to Sun or Flying Dirt

These days the face needs special care and attention. Flying dust and dirt, the beating sun, are severe on any skin. Their despoiling effects are best overcome by the application of pure marcolized wax. This keeps skin and pores in a clean condition, the complexion beautifully white and spotless. Reddened, tanned, freckled or by it. One ounce is actually absorbed by it. One ounce of marcolized wax, obtainable at any drug store, is sufficient to completely renovate a soiled complexion. It is used like cold cream, allowed to remain on over night, and washed off in the morning. Fine lines and even the deeper wrinkles often appear at this season. In such cases nothing is better than a face bath made by dissolving an ounce of pure powdered saxolite in a half pint which hazel. This is remarkably effective.—Adv.

How Many Pedal Strokes Per Minute?

Surprisingly Few on the Gulbransen

Here is a test of player-piano efficiency which you should make before you buy. It shows you the relative effort required to play different player-pianos. This is easy to make.

Use a simple music roll—one with few perforations. Play the same roll on every instrument you test. Play it at the same speed each time. Pedal with only one foot. Pedal as slowly as you can without retarding the music. Count the pedal strokes in 60 seconds. You will find a surprising difference between various instruments. Some you cannot play at all with one pedal. Some you cannot play smoothly with one pedal. Nearly all will require very fast pedaling to play this way. But the Gulbransen—due to its exquisite pedal touch—you can play smoothly, leisurely, easily with only one pedal. Use full length strokes and you will observe that 40 to 60 strokes per minute are enough on the Gulbransen. This with only one pedal, remember. Make this test carefully, fairly. Be sure to make it yourself. When you have finished the test, please play the Gulbransen with both pedals. Play a piece you know and enjoy. Try to put expression into it—soft, loud, then soft again, as the music suggests. Notice the sympathetic, live tone of the Gulbransen.

SAILORS SENTENCED FOR RIOTING AT REVERE

BOSTON, Aug. 10.—Four sailors commenced jail sentences at Deer Island yesterday afternoon as a result of their participation in the rioting at Revere beach Sunday night, and the 75 other sailors rounded up and held in the Revere police station following the riot, returned to the navy yard yesterday and will face an investigation by naval authorities into their conduct on Sunday night.

Officials Stirred Up

Navy officials were greatly peeved at the reports of the riots, and intimated that the reports of the affair given out were highly colored and that the sailors were given a "black eye" thereby. Rear Admiral E. W. Earle, commanding officer of the 6th division Atlantic squadron, refused to send a provost guard to bring the men back to the navy yard, as requested by the Metropolitan police, and so when they were let out the rear door of the police station yesterday the sailors returned to the yard as individuals.

Capt. John J. Hyland, chief of staff at the navy yard, stated yesterday that the sailors have always been a source of envy at the beach and officers there have more than once treated them roughly without reason. He said the order "arrest all men in uniform" was unjust and unreasonable.

Most of the vessels to which the men were attached sailed yesterday, and the sailors will rejoin their vessels at Newport, R. I.

A board of inquiry will be appointed by the commandant of the first naval district to investigate Sunday night's occurrence, and from its findings the officers will judge whether any of the 75 men are to be punished.

The two most seriously injured in the rioting—Bessie Cramer, 25, of 19 Shirley avenue, Revere, and John Muse, sailor, U.S.S. Florida, were both reported improving at the Massachusetts General hospital last night and neither name is on the dangerous list.

Got Six and Four Months

One of the sailors, Michael Caprio, 15 years, a member of the crew of the U.S.S. Florida, and charged by the police as the one primarily responsible for the rioting, was sentenced to six months in the house of correction by Judge Albert D. Bosson on the charge of disturbing the peace. Three of the other sailors, John C. M. Mickles, 19, of the U.S.S. Delaware; Wilbert Gardner, 21, of the U.S.S. Bridgeport, and Frank Ludon, 20, also of the Bridgeport, were each sentenced to four months in the house of correction. The latter three were accused of drunkenness also, and on this complaint each was fined $10.

As none of the men had entered an appeal from their sentences they were taken on the 10 o'clock boat for Deer Island. They were each, with the exception of Gardner, bandaged about the head with blood-soaked gauze, mute evidence of their unsuccessful encounter with the police.

Pasquale Bagana, 18 years old, of the U.S.S. Florida, who was arrested by the Revere city police prior to the riot, was also before the court on the charge of disturbing the peace. As the police stated his arrest had no connection with the riot, and in their opinion did not precipitate it, the court imposed a fine of $15.

Armed military guards from Fort Banks will assist in the patrolling of the beach until further notice. Mayor Roscoe Walsworth of Revere announced yesterday. Supt. Herbert W. West of the Metropolitan district police was in communication with the naval authorities relative to having a naval guard at the beach for the remainder of the summer. It is hoped that arrangements will be made for such a detail.

WHO PAYS FOR PNEUMATIC TRUCK TIRE EXPERIMENTS

WHEN an automobile owner's tire goes back on him he more or less cheerfully charges it off as a personal loss and tries to do better next time.

It is different with the motor truck owner.

Every tire must do exactly what is expected of it or be charged against his business.

Experimenting with tires is not the job of the truck owner.

The United States Rubber Company spent two years in developing the idea of putting a heavy truck on air before it brought out the first pneumatic truck tires. Even then it was not satisfied.

Even at that time it saw that you could not take an ordinary passenger car tire, enlarge it and make it do what truck owners expect of their tires.

It went back again to first principles—to the foundation—to the bead of the tire.

The car owner who seeks United States Standards in tubes is well paid in more mileage for his tires. U. S. Red Tubes. U. S. Grey Tubes.

It created a new type of bead construction, positively anchoring the cords. It put in the right number of breaker strips, stronger side walls, a heavier tread.

The result was a pneumatic truck tire—not an enlarged passenger car tire. Created to fill a need—not padded and bolstered up to fill a market already created.

***

There are still some sizes of U. S. Nobby Cord Tires you cannot buy. The market is there, waiting for them.

But they will not be released until this company is satisfied that they will do what truck owners expect of them.

The United States Rubber Company has never asked truck owners to pay for its tire experiments.

LOWELL SWIMMER IN THE MOVIES

Motion pictures of the attempt of Henry Sullivan of this city to swim the English channel will probably be shown in Lowell, if present plans are carried out. Thomas F. Soriero, gen-

BOXERS AND BOXING

Activities in Local and Other Rings—Murphy-Fitz Bout Looks Good

Favorable comment is heard on all sides relative to the return engagement of Billy Murphy and Billy Fitzsimmons at the Crescent rink, on Thursday night. If the weather is favorable a crowd that will tax the capacity of the hall is expected.

Few of those who saw the pair in action here a week ago are expected to be absent while others who have read or heard about their terrific mill, will fail to miss the coming battle.

The work of the pair in their initial appearance has been the talk of the boxing enthusiasts ever since, and consequently all have good reason to expect that the members who are in a position to be on hand, will be there when the hell rings.

Young George Gardner (George Brooks) and Kid Lee of Chelsea will meet in the semi-final. They met a short time ago in Boston, with Brooks winning in the seventh round on a foul. It was a fast mill up until the illegal blow.

Young Duffy of Woburn and Young Maloney of Lowell will meet in the preliminary and Benny Nelson, who has scored two knockouts in his two ring appearances will meet Joe Hall of Lawrence in the other six rounds.

"Tip" Quinn of Lowell, who injured his left arm in his bout here with Mack Murphy, will carry the fight in the ring in sling. He will be out of the game for some time.

Young Montreuil's victory over Abe Friedman gave the Providence fighter another boost up the ladder. In his appearance here against Joe Brooks Montreuil showed that he was an aggressive performer, and while he lost the bout on a foul, he showed much class.

Jimmy Duffy, the New York lightweight, who appeared here on several occasions and always put up a satisfactory battle, has resumed training, and is seeking bouts in this city.

Charles W. Ettinger, the well known Allentown, Pa., sportsman, has a good stable of fighters, including Jackie Clarke, Allentown Dundas and Johnny Herman. Ettinger challenges Johnny Wilson on behalf of Clarke for the middleweight title, and he believes he has a world hunter in Dundas for the lightweight championship. Herman is a welterweight.

HAD REED GIVE DECISION

U. S. ATHLETES IN OLYMPIC TRIALS

ANTWERP, Aug. 10. (By Associated Press).—American track athletes faced their first real test in the Olympic stadium today, in the trial events which were held to determine the American participants in the 100-meter dash, the 400-meter hurdles, and the 800-meter run. Men who came from America on board the Matoaka and the Frederik competed in today's events.

As the opening day of the Olympic games approaches, the stadium track and field are becoming crowded. The Swedish athletic team was expected to arrive today. More than 150 newspaper men have applied for places in the press box and every train and boat to this city brings throngs of visitors.

The cycling events have so far failed to draw a large attendance. The semi-finals and finals in the relay bicycling races were run today, followed by the great Velodrome race of 50 kilometers.

Foreign entrants in the 1000-meter race expert slow time because a large part of the route is over rough cobblestones. The highways to be covered by the riders are very rough, where the highways are very poor.

European Bicyclist Win
ANTWERP, Aug. 9. (By Associated Press).—European bicyclist today captured the honors in the first bicycle events of the Olympiad. In the 1000-meter relay race, the Americans were eliminated by the Belgian team. The Canadians were eliminated by the South African team.

Factors, who is the Dutch cycling champion, took the 1000-meter in the slow time of 1 minute, 12.5 seconds. Johnson and Ryan both of England, were respectively second and third. These three were the only riders in the final.

PLAY OF MEMBERS OF DAVIS CUP
NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 10.—The play of members of the Davis cup team held the interest of the gallery today at the annual Newport Casino lawn tennis tournament. Members of the team, with the exception of William T. Tilden, 2nd, who decided not to play, engaged in early matches to catch up with the other entrants, as they were not here for the first round yesterday.

William M. Johnston of the Davis team, met C. K. Shaw and the winner was scheduled to play Nat W. Niles on the club house court. C. K. Garland, one of Johnston's teammates, played J. B. Fenno, Jr. The winner of this match was to meet W. M. Washburn, winner of the Seabright tournament last week, on the championship court.

PLAYGROUND TEAMS
The North common playground baseball team defeated a team from the Greenhalge playground on the North common yesterday afternoon, 7 to 6. The North common team had gained a lead up to the ninth when the score was tied by the visitors, but by a strong comeback the home players succeeded in turning the scales again. Chase pitched a good game for the winners and was well supported. Tomorrow the North common will play the South common and on Friday the Greenhalge team will again be its opponent.

PITTS' SOUTH ENDS DEFEATED K. OF C.

Twilight baseball came in for another boost on the South common last evening when nearly 4000 fans lined the sides of the amphitheatre and watched Pitts' South Ends defeat the Knights of Columbus in a well played game, 6 to 4.

Each succeeding game of the Twilight league series seems to bring out more enthusiasm on the part of the fans and last night's set-to brought forth a record-breaking crowd.

The South Ends trotted forth dependable Owain Devlin to represent them on the mound while the Knights pinned their hopes on Scully. Devlin had a shade on his opponent, but had it not been for the strength of his team at the bat, there might have been a different story to tell when the game ended.

In the field, Ed Cawley, playing third for the Knights, put up a most brilliant article of baseball. As early as the first inning he began his brilliant stuff and kept it up for the entire six innings. The South Ends scored two in the second and four in the sixth, while the Knights got one of theirs in the second and three in the fifth. Umpire Bob Ganley handled the indicator and did a satisfactory job. The score:

RECORD NUMBER OF GOLFERS ENTERED

TOLEDO, Ohio, Aug. 10.—The large number of golfers who entered in a championship today played 18 holes over the links of the Inverness club in the first half of the qualifying round of the national open championship. But out of the 268 entrants interested in a few of the better known players, and especially in the British contenders, Harry Vardon and Edward Ray.

Much attention was given to the play of the amateurs, among whom were Chick Evans, former champion and Bobby Jones of Atlanta, southern champion. Evans played with George Sargent of Columbus, also a former champion, while Jones was paired with Vardon. Walter Hagen of Detroit, defending his title, played the round with T. D. Amour, a Scotch amateur, and James Barnes, former Western Open champion started with John Bowling.

GRAND CIRCUIT RACES
CLEVELAND, O., Aug. 10.—The track was in good shape to start the second week's program of Grand Circuit racing at North Randall today, unless more rain caused another postponement.

Two races, including yesterday's postponed card, were on the program, with the American Sportsman three-year-old pace, the feature. Other events included a 201 pace, two divisions of the 211 trot, and the first division of the 212 pace.

PLAY OF MEMBERS OF DAVIS CUP

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 10.—The play of members of the Davis cup team held the interest of the gallery today at the annual Newport Casino lawn tennis tournament. Members of the team, with the exception of William T. Tilden, 2nd, who decided not to play, engaged in early matches to catch up with the other entrants, as they were not here for the first round yesterday.

William M. Johnston of the Davis team, met C. K. Shaw and the winner was scheduled to play Nat W. Niles on the club house court. C. K. Garland, one of Johnston's teammates, played J. B. Fenno, Jr. The winner of this match was to meet W. M. Washburn, winner of the Seabright tournament last week, on the championship court.

PLAYGROUND TEAMS
The North common playground baseball team defeated a team from the Greenhalge playground on the North common yesterday afternoon, 7 to 6. The North common team had gained a lead up to the ninth when the score was tied by the visitors, but by a strong comeback the home players succeeded in turning the scales again. Chase pitched a good game for the winners and was well supported. Tomorrow the North common will play the South common and on Friday the Greenhalge team will again be its opponent.

MELVIN O. ADAMS DEAD

Noted Lawyer and Head of Narrow Gauge Dies Sitting in Chair

BOSTON, Aug. 10.—Col. Melvin O. Adams, one of the best known lawyers of Massachusetts, president of the Boston, Revere Beach & Lynn railroad, and trustee of many estates and corporations, died suddenly last evening at his home, 36 Beacon street.

He was sitting in a chair at a window with his wife, following a very busy day, when he was seized with heart failure and died almost immediately.

Karl Adams, their only son, who is assistant to the corporation counsel of the city of Boston, is at Nantucket with his family, but was notified by wire, and will be home today. Pending his arrival no plans for the funeral were made.

Born in Ashburnham in 1850.

Melvin O. Adams was born in Ashburnham, Nov. 7, 1850. He was the son of Joseph and Dolly (Whitney) Adams. He entered Dartmouth college in 1876. He entered Dartmouth college in 1887. Although he determined to become a lawyer, he spent the first few years after college teaching school. In 1875 he received a degree from Boston University Law school and he was admitted to the bar the same year.

The following year he began to practice law in Boston and for 10 years was assistant district attorney, earning the reputation of being one of the ablest and most successful members of the Suffolk bar. He gained additional fame as a strong criminal lawyer by his defense in the Lizzie Borden trial at Fall River.

In 1891 he became president of the Boston, Revere Beach & Lynn railroad. He served on the staff of Gov. Brackett, where he received his honorary title. In 1902 he entered the fight in the 10th congressional district. He was defeated by Eugene A. Foss. He was considered one of the best orators in the republican party in Boston and attended many republican conventions, serving as an official at most of them.

He served as United States district attorney from 1905 to 1906.

Many Gifts to Native Town
In Ashburnham, the place of his birth, Col. Adams was well known and loved. He gave many gifts to the town.

Including a $20,000 union schoolhouse named in memory of his mother, a soldiers' monument and Meeting House Hill pleasure park.

Col. Adams was awarded the degree of LL. D. by his alma mater, Dartmouth college, in 1912. He was always much interested in Dartmouth college affairs and prominent at alumni reunions.

On January 20, 1874, he married Miss Mary Colony of Fitchburg.

Col. Adams had a beautiful summer home on the Middle Brewster, and he owned a large part of the island. Among the clubs of which he was a member are the Union League of New York, Union, Unitarian, University, Exchange, and Boston Yacht clubs of Boston.

Since 1893 Col. Adams had been a trustee of Dartmouth college, and he gave largely of his private means to aid needy students. He was chairman of the committee which raised $250,000 to replace Dartmouth Hall, destroyed by fire. He was president of the board of trustees of Cushing Academy at Ashburnham and a manager of the Farm and Trade School of Thompsons Island.

LOYAL INTEGRITY LODGE
One member was elected by ballot and two propositions for membership were received at the regular meeting of Loyal Integrity lodge, 6630, L.O.O.F., M.U., which was held last evening with N.G. George Osborn in the chair.

A sliding scale for initiation fees, which will go into effect October 1 was adopted and routine business was transacted. At the close of the business session a social hour was held.

Five races, including yesterday's postponed card, were on the program, with the American Sportsman three-year-old pace, the feature. Other events included a 201 pace, two divisions of the 211 trot, and the first division of the 212 pace.

COX PRAISES SPEECH BY F. D. ROOSEVELT

DAYTON, O., Aug. 10.—Interest of Gov. Cox in the notification ceremonies of his running mate, Franklin D. Roosevelt, was manifested in a statement issued last night by the democratic presidential candidate commenting on Mr. Roosevelt's personality and acceptance address.

"Mr. Roosevelt's speech is characteristic of the man," said Gov. Cox. "It is a wholesome, sensible view of conditions, full of hope as to our future and radiant of the happiness of the individual."

"The western country will like this splendid type of progressive statesman. Following the two years of gloom and carping, captious criticism from the republican leaders, it will be a genuine refreshment in the great land Mr. Roosevelt now enters for the people to meet a representative of government whose soul is possessed of the philosophy of joy."

Gov. Cox reserved comment until his future speeches, at least, on the statement of Senator Harding's headquarters criticizing his acceptance address. The governor's friends said it was not expected that his address would meet with approval of the Harding camp.

PLENTY OF WORK

It is pleasant news that comes from Agent Wadleigh of the Merrimack mills, president of the Lowell Cotton Manufacturers' association, that the mills of this city have an abundance of work ahead to keep them in operation, without curtailment, for some time to come.

It is natural that the closing of wooden mills should have led to a feeling of uneasiness among the factory workers, and that disquieting rumors regarding a possible slackening of operations and pay cuts should have gained wide circulation.

It will be reassuring to the workers and merchants of the city, therefore, to learn from a person so competent to speak from inside knowledge, that the mills are to go on running at their present capacity for an indefinite period.

The workers in some of the mills, who are to have a ten days' vacation beginning August 28, should be able to enjoy their rest period free from apprehension as to what the future conditions as regards continuous employment are likely to be.

From returns from other parts of the country, it appears that the cotton industry is enjoying a season of unexampled prosperity.

In Fall River, for example, the mills have just paid the largest quarterly dividend in their history, the payments having been nearly a third larger than they were for the same period a year ago.

WATCH POLAND

It is doubtful if, since the days of early mid-summer six years ago when Europe was on the verge of the great conflict, there has been a condition of affairs so threatening to the peace of the world as that which now exists in connection with the Polish situation.

Premiers Lloyd George and Millerand have been in conference debating as to what measures shall be adopted to stave the onward progress of the Bolsheviks towards the conquest of Poland. Apparently neither nation desires to seriously take up the task of rescuing the Poles from their plight. Neither of them proposes to openly declare war upon the government of the soviets, but would apparently confine its help of Poland to the supply of food and munitions with such aid as may come from the official recognition of a blockade that has already been in existence for several months.

The truth probably is that neither nation is in a condition to attempt to make war upon the Bolsheviks if it can be avoided, and they are not wholly unwilling that Poland should be offered as a sacrifice to the soviets if the matter can be made to end there.

France very evidently appreciates where one of the chief dangers of the situation lies. She is prepared to inform Germany that the slightest move on her part to aid or abet the Bolsheviks will result in the prompt occupation of the Ruhr valley again by French troops.

When an Austrian crown prince was killed in the streets of Belgrade, the world could little appreciate that in the happening was the germ of the great war. Today it may be in the advance of the "Red" forces on Warsaw, and their prospective arrival at their destination, the world is looking upon the curtain-raiser of momentous scenes in Europe.

HEAT WAVES

Mother Nature cuts up strange dodos occasionally, but if we watch the old lady carefully for any considerable length of time, we shall find that she is a pretty staid and consistent old dame after all.

This year we have had a summer that, up to the second week of August, might be called in some respects remarkable. Usually about the first week in July we get a heat wave. This did not materialize this year. In July, too, there is quite commonly a spell of what the farmers call "dry weather." This, also, was missing this year.

Then just as people had got down to enjoying what they were coming to call the "finest summer ever," the thermometer, on Sunday morning, begins to do stunts, and a season of oppressively hot days is upon us.

Older inhabitants are always on hand in winter to tell of the times that they remember when the thermometer ceased to register because it was frozen in the bulb, or the snow was so deep that it was level with the ridge-pole of Bill Jones', or sometimes else, barn. Likewise we are greeted on days, when the heat has imposed about the last burden that we think we can bear, by some jubilant, brow-mopping individual who tells us that the heat isn't to be compared with what it was the day before Garfield was shot.

As a matter of fact temperatures, droughts, snowfall and rainfall average up pretty much the same if we take into consideration any considerable period of time. It is fortunate that it is so, for a great many serious variations from the normal in the behavior of Mother Nature would prove disastrous to man and his interests on this globe.

STUDYING THE CONSTITUTION

It would be interesting to know how many people, since their school days, have attentively read through the constitution of the United States. The number is probably small, but it is not nearly so limited as the number of individuals who have really seriously undertaken to study and become familiar with the provisions of the document that Gladstone described as being "the most wonderful piece of work ever struck out at a given time by the hand and purpose of man."

It was in the closing years of the seventeenth century that the little band of statesmen, gathered in the old state house in Philadelphia, affixed their signatures to what has come to be the oldest written constitution in the world. They did not look upon the results of their joint handiwork with any great degree of hopefulness. Even the most optimistic among them entertained serious doubts whether the various states, with their local jealousies and conflicting interests, could be welded into a composite and binding whole under the constitution that they had written.

It is one of the marvels of political history that the thinly populated original thirteen states have grown to be the nation of today under the documents that the forefathers provided. A careful reading of the constitution will reveal some of the reasons why they succeeded beyond their dreams as nation-builders. One of them is that they set forth their intentions in such clear and unmistakable language, with such freedom from superfluous verbiage and involved phrases, that he who runs may read, and there has been scant opportunity for misunderstanding their meaning.

A society has recently been formed in New York, with Charles Evans Hughes and Cornelius W. Wickersham on its board of directors, that has for its purpose the promotion of wider familiarity with the constitution. It proposes to place a copy of the document in every American home. The work is worth performing. When a speaker in Lowell, of supposed at least average intelligence, can refer to party government as being provided for in the constitution, and another refer to the right of the supreme court to pass on the constitutionality of legislation as being among the constitutional provisions, it is evident that a much wider knowledge of the contents of the ancient document is desirable.

AWAY FROM BIG CITIES

Frederick A. Wallis, newly appointed commissioner of immigration, has been looking into conditions on Ellis Island, the great gateway through which millions in the past have made their entrance into American life.

As a result of his investigations he tells us that newly arriving immigrants are no longer huddling down in colonies of the foreign born in the big cities. They are going from the island direct to places of employment on farms and in workshops and the mines in small cities and towns.

This is certainly a most encouraging sign. The newly arrived foreigner commonly passes underneath the beams of the great torch held aloft by Liberty, the "silent warder at the nation's gate," with brilliant dreams of the new land of freedom, plenty and opportunity in which he is to make his home. These bright visions are soon dimmed by life in a big colony of the foreign-born in a big city. He often finds himself, perhaps, a bit worse off than he was at home.

The America of today has been made possible by immigration. We are still in need of more immigrants of the right kind. But we need to see to it that they are placed, if possible, outside the big teeming cities of the Atlantic seaboard, in places where they may be employed at useful labor and in time become assimilated as integral parts of the population.

Prohibition a success? Read this from Lieut. Col. Emil Mucius, head of the Salvation Army industrial department in the states west of the Mississippi: "The day of the cheap 'flop' house has passed since prohibition came. The kind of men who used to come to us asking for free beds or asking to get one for a dime, are now glad for private rooms with sunshine and hot and cold running water."

Be merciful Mr. Ponzi when you start in carrying out your announced intention to "twist the tail of the English lion." The caudal appendage of the poor old animal is already being tweaked from so many quarters that he is very nearly in a frenzy to know where he is at.

In view of the fact that probably no one knows exactly what the resources of the Russians may be, the threat of Great Britain to impose a blockade upon the "Reds" if they do not let up on Poland seems somewhat like saying: "Nicholasvski, if you don't quit, I'll slap your wrists."

There will be plenty of Missourians hereabouts, willing to be shown, when the department of commerce places on exhibition, as it has promised to do all over the country, some of the paper suits, to sell at 60 cents apiece, that it has ordered from Europe.

The Sun welcomes the Boston Post to the ranks of newspapers that are anxious to have the business of selling Jamaica ginger for use as a beverage stamped out. If ordinary, everyday booze were a curse, "jakey" is proving itself a super-curse.

The department of agriculture announces that the deadly army worm is headed for New England, and the agriculturist, if he is wise, will speedily begin to prepare to mobilize an army of insecticides to be used in a fight against him.

If Mr. Long would make such a weak-democratic candidate for the governorship as some of the republican newspapers are trying to make out, it is to be wondered why they are not booing him for the nomination.

What a nice quiet place Rere Beach must be for a Sunday outing, by the side of the sad sea waves, with riot guns being fired over the heads of the crowd and soldiers prodding people in the ribs with bayonets.

A Lowell preacher says that "we can live under almost any form of government, for men have done it." Then we shall probably be able to survive four years of republican rule, if the worst should come.

Old-time theatregoers will learn with regret that James O'Neil, who has thrilled so many times with his declaration, "The world is mine," is fast slipping out of the world.

Note for future presidential aspirants: Before making arrangements to conduct a front-porch campaign, be sure to make arrangements with your opponent to conduct the same kind of one.

Tay Pay says that under the latest Irish coercion act "a man may be tried, convicted and hanged in secret." Any particular British statesman you would like to see that happen to, Tay Pay?

The fall dramatic season, that is getting underway in Boston, is almost as previous as the fall bonnets that are beginning to appear in Lowell shop windows.

A Holbrook, Mass., man, who has been voting 57 years, says every ballot he has ever cast has been straight republican. What a lot to be sorry for.

We suggest a new form of punishment for the man who asks, "Is this hot enough for you?" Sentence him to a ride over First street.

"Is milking cows to become a lost art?" asks the Boston Herald. The hired man hopes so.

SEEN AND HEARD

"God has placed no limits to the exercise of the intellect He has given us."

Will some one kindly inform the butcher that the wholesale price of beef has been going down for some time now?

Charlie Chaplin is accused of cruelty by his wife. The judge will probably rule that to get a custard pie in the face is exasperating but not cruel.

Personal Privilege

For the second time and without apology the man hanging to the strap trod on the toes of the sitting passenger. Barely evading a third crushing, the latter looked up and observed mildly:

"I know, sir, that my feet were made to walk on, but that is a strictly personal privilege belonging to me."—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

History Slightly Jamed

On August 10, 1782—135 years ago today—there was born in England a lad who determined as soon as he could think to be a soldier and never let loose of the idea. Consequently, he grew up to become Sir Charles James Napier, famous British general, hero of the Peninsular war and the conqueror of a province in India. When he was 12 years old he had received a commission and he was a soldier until he died, his death being hastened by the frequent wounds he received in action. The moral is that anybody can do anything, if he wishes it enough.

The World's Beggars

Herbert Corey, the war correspondent, was talking about the beggars of different lands: "I have met," said Mr. Corey, "beggars of every description—shabby, blustering ones, old beggars, robust ones—but the most remarkable beggar of the lot was a man whom I never met, yet whom I never assuredly will forget. All I saw of this beggar was his hat and chair. The chair stood on a corner of the Rue St. Lazare in Paris. The hat lay on the chair, with a few coppers in it, and behind the hat was a placard reading, 'Please don't forget the beggar, who is now taking his luncheon.'"

Couldn't Understand It

The battalion was resting beside the road toward the end of its 15-mile hike. After the weary marchers had eased their packs and sipped from their nearly empty canteens, they watched dispiritedly the energetic setting up exercises being gone through by a strange outfit in a nearby field.

"What's that there gang?" inquired Private Hanks of Oklahoma without enthusiasm.

"Infantry candidates school," replied the corporal.

"Candidates? Infantry candidates?" exploded Hanks. "My good gosh! Do you have to make application and be initiated to get into this mess nowadays?"

By Lee Hington

I heard a portly gent enthuse about the benefits of booze: "I could not live," said he, "without my daily morning smile, and life just starts to be worth while when I've had two or three." A snifter for the stomach's sake, the bible says, and what I take, you bet it does me good; I never drink a drop too much; these prohibition laws and such, they rile my very blood. The drys are objects of my scorn," he paused to quaff another horn, remarking, "Here's to you," and when I didn't take the drink, he'd poured for me, without a blink he buried that one, too. "I often drink around the clock," said he, "I have a private stock that fills my cellar up. This life is brief enough at best; it lends a bit of zip and zest to drain the brimming cup." Now this was several months ago, and this here poem ought to show that drinker's fearful end; it should, to make its lesson clear, portray him on his drunkard's bier, alone, without a friend. Nay, prosperous, he walks the streets, and many loving friends he greets; his eye is keen and bright; to me whose brain begins to rear with half a glass of almost-beer, somehow it isn't right.

Telephoning

I go up to the telephone, And in a gentle, courteous tone ask for Main 4503, And Central says: "Four-five-O-three-ree-ree!" And seems to think no more of me.

I wait a while, to let her rest before I urge my radi request. "What number?" she inquires, when I call her, after counting ten. Then sweetly says: "I'll ring again!" I listen, but no sound I hear. She has forgotten me, I fear, I call, quite wabbly at the knees, like one who storms of wrath foresees. But she just says: "What number, please?"

I murmur: "Main, 4503." She says again: "Four-five-O-three-ree-ree!" I wait and wait till I feel dizzy. The while the whirling wires gets whizz— Then Central says: "The line is busy!" —Somerville Journal.

Hot Weather Hints

"Hints for Hot Weather" is a handy prentennial. It simply has got to be done when the bathing and mosquito season sets in. Here are a few:

Get off the earth. Dr. Einstein gives you the choice of a limitless universe. Keep out of the sun. Sit in the moonlight.

Avoid non-alcoholic "beverages." You can't get the other kind. Don't use straws for votes. They look better in soda water.

Don't sit alone in a hammock after dark. The world is becoming overcrowded by the economical of space. Give him (or her) a chance for a place in the moon.

Stick to non-irritating literature. Don't read George Bernard—Pshaw! Don't think.

Attend political barbecues, accept campaign cigars, buttons, badges and

MAN ABOUT TOWN

There are humors even in the housing situation. There used to be a time when "To Let" signs were to be seen with more or less frequency in the windows of dwelling houses. Now, always house owners who possess such signs keep them carefully hidden away down cellar in a dark place on the shelf behind a row of preserve jars or elsewhere where they are not likely to get into public view. To display a "To Let" sign in a window at the present time would be to invite a neighbor, in a Lowell family, while ago there was some tentative discussion about moving into the country. It was supposed that this conversation was carried on with diplomatic secrecy. But, somehow, the news leaked out. Then trouble began for the people of the household. People began to ring the bell before the members of the family were out of bed in the morning and they continued to ring it at intervals until midnight and later. They all had one errand. They wished to find out if it were true, as they had heard, that the family was to move and that the house would be to let. No one knows how the secret got abroad, but get abroad it did and spread something after the nature of wild fire. If all the people who applied for that one house should be compelled to leave the city a comfortable size dent would be made in Lowell's population. They tried to work upon the sympathies of the owners of the house by telling stories of woe that were calculated to soften the heart of a graven image. They were, some of them, willing to pay almost any old sum in the way of rent if they could only get a place to lay their weary heads and set up their household lares and penates. But, at last accounts, the house was not "to let" nor likely to be.

One of the most useful organizations that has been established in Lowell for some time is the traffic department of the chamber of commerce. In my opinion, such a department has been sorely needed in a city so industrially inclined as Lowell. Under the old board of trade, the secretary did what he could to keep in touch with shippers, but obviously with so many other duties, he could hope for no more than an occasional demonstration of real achievement in this sub-division of the board's activities. For the past month, however, the traffic department of the chamber of commerce has been in full swing and has already been in touch with 250 shippers, according to W. F. Whitcomb, its manager. At the outset, Mr. Whitcomb says, many of the local shippers were holding up outbound shipments on account of existing embargoes. The traffic department had them furnished a result the traffic department was being held up on this account and as a result the traffic department was very successful in pooling or rerouting this freight. A number of claims on which settlement had been delayed have been straightened out by the traffic department through close cooperation with the claims departments of the railroads. Various other services have been rendered since the department came into existence and it is rapidly becoming one of the chamber of commerce's most important subdivisions.

When the members of the Haverhill fire department baseball team visited Lowell one day last week for a game with a team representing the local department, Commissioner John F. Salmon, head of the Lowell department, invited them to inspect a number of the firehouses in this city and he tells me they were greatly impressed by the numerous facilities and accommodations furnished the Lowell firemen. The local houses are kept in first class condition through the interest of the men themselves and since the double platform system went into effect and meals have had to be eaten at the stations, arrangements for cooking have been made that have resulted in sections of some houses looking as comfortable and cozy as a private residence. The Haverhill visitors were particularly impressed by the shower bath arrangements here in Lowell. Few things have been left undone to make the

What has become of the petition filed with the municipal council several months ago by residents of Aiken street and business people who have access through that thoroughfare, asking that Aiken street be widened at its intersection with Hall street? The Man About Town was asked to answer this question yesterday, and his only reply was that to him it looked as though it had been pigeon-holed. The corner of Aiken and Hall streets is one of the most if not the most dangerous in the city and if I remember well movements for the widening of the road at that spot have been started on various occasions, the first dating back to the days when the old charter was in force, but as yet nothing has been done to relieve conditions. When the last petition was filed with the council there was some discussion about the project at a couple of the city fathers' meetings, but nothing further was done. I was informed yesterday that at that time the council claimed the city's finances did not permit such a big undertaking. Later the mayor promised he would assign a traffic officer to the dangerous corner, but everything has been forgotten and conditions are the same as they have always been. If the mayor could see his way clear to assign a traffic officer at that junction until such time as the city can bear the expense of widening the corner, the petitioners would be very grateful.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

by Olive Roberts Barton

IN THE STEEPLE

Mrs. Bat was the next person Tingling took the twins to see, while he was collecting rents. It wasn't the first time Nancy and Nick had been in the church steeple, because they had visited the lady while hunting for Jocko, so they didn't have to be told the way. Up they climbed past the sparrow's house and Mrs. Pigeon's apartment, until they reached the place where the big bell hung—and Mrs. Bat and her family; for they, too, hung from a pole all day, head downward.

hold their ears, really! When the noise died, a complaining voice from high overhead drewled out sleepily. "I declare, if it isn't Sunday again! It's very funny, for Sunday was only three days ago, and it used to come once in seven. If they've changed it, I'm going to move. A respectable bat family can't get a decent day's sleep with such a racket going on!" Tingling gave another boom, and instantly there were six voices all crying at once.

So the fat fairyman found a stick, and creeping toward the big bell he beat a loud "boom" on it.

"Do be careful!" warned Nick as the fairyman landlord came near. "She's very snappish and doesn't like to be disturbed."

"Don't I know it," grinned Tingling. "And just because she is so snappy, I'm going to play a joke on her."

So the fat fairyman found a stick, and creeping toward the big bell, he beat a loud "boom" on it. Then another, and another, and another!

Such a din! Nick and Nancy had to

"My goodness, there go the babies!" exclaimed Mrs. Bat. "Blackie, do get up and see if you can't get them to sleep again!"

"I'm going to see what the innards of my wrong first," growled Mr. Bat. "It isn't Sunday at all, and I'm sure it's not Christmas or Thanksgiving!"

His voice sounded so awfully mad that Tingling and the twins made their escape at once, without getting a cent of rent.

URGES TEXAS TO START BREAK OF SOLID SOUTH

MARION, Ohio, Aug. 10.—In a telegram of greeting to Texas republicans, Senator Harding declared last night that "it would herald a new era in American politics" if this campaign could see a breaking up of the democratic solid south.

The message was sent to F. E. Scofield to be read at the republican state convention at Dallas. It follows:

"Please convey my most cordial greetings to Texas republicans assembled in state convention. It would herald a new era in American politics to have the great state of Texas lead in a new political alignment in the wonderful southland with all its measureless possibilities."

"I recently sensed the inspiring confidence of Texas in the capacity of our republic to work out a great American destiny, and I firmly believe that the interests of your great state are those of our common country which the republican party aims to preserve and promote. It will be fine to know local organization has been effected to give voice and influence to the party sentiment in Texas, and add to the force of our appeal, the confidence of all the American people."

Senator Harding spent most of the day at work on correspondence. He held several political conferences, however, among his callers being James

B. Reynolds, former secretary of the republican national committee and James Weldon Johnson of New York, field secretary for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

RAILWAY POLE SNAPS

The breaking of a railway pole in Lowell street, North Billerica yesterday afternoon, caused an interruption of traffic for some time. The pole snapped off near the ground a couple of minutes after a Lowell-bound car had passed that point. As a result of the breaking of the pole the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway company will be requested by the Billerica authorities to examine the line throughout the town in order to prevent a similar occurrence.

LIQUOR SMUGGLING INTO U. S. CAUSES ALARM

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10. (By the Associated Press.)—Liquor smuggling into the United States has reached such proportions that it has brought in its wake a large illegal traffic in other commodities, it was learned yesterday at the Treasury department.

Officials have become so concerned that they are considering a rearrangement of the government's coastal criminal chasing arms with a view to concentrating on what they described as a menacing situation.

The custom service, charged with protecting the country from smugglers, has found itself "wholly inadequate" to meet the situation, according to Assistant Secretary Shouse of the Treasury, who is head of that government branch. He declared that customs officials were handicapped "both in men and in money because of a refusal by the last congress to appropriate additional funds with which the service could be expanded."

"It would require a small army of men to patrol the coast and border territories," Mr. Shouse said, but he believed such a plan was the only solution. He argued also that as the stock of liquor in this country decreased, the work of the customs service increased proportionately and that this outlook was not conducive to an early improvement in the condition.

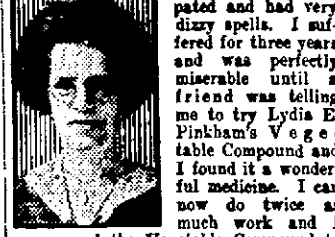

Mr. Shouse declared it was no secret that vast quantities of liquor had been coming in through customs officers had confiscated "thousands upon thousands of dollars worth from ships which attempt to conceal liquor stocks on entering customs ports."

The larger supplies which officials believe have been smuggled in, however, have come not through ports, but through landings of launches and small boats in secluded spots along the Atlantic coast. Information gathered by the customs agents and prohibition

I SUFFERED THREE YEARS

Finally was Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Lowell, Mass.—"I was all run down and had an awful pain in my right side, was persistently constipated and had very dizzy spells. I suffered for three years and was perfectly miserable until a friend was telling me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I found it a wonderful medicine. I can now do twice as much work and I recommend the Vegetable Compound to other women. You can use these facts as a testimonial."—Mrs. M. TRAIL BESSEY, 48 Chestnut St., Lowell, Mass.

Why women will continue to suffer so long is more than we can understand, when they can find health in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

For forty years it has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has restored the health of thousands of women who have been troubled with such ailments as displacements, inflammation, ulceration, irregularities, etc.

The letters constantly being published on women in every section of this country prove beyond question the merit of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

enforcement officials tended to show that immense amounts of liquor and in some cases, shipments of other commodities, had been obtained from seagoing vessels lying outside of the three mile limit and then transferred to the coast by means of small craft.

The Canadian border traffic, while admittedly large, was declared not to compare with the smuggling along the Atlantic seaboard, and, with reference to liquor, particularly between the West Indies and the Florida shores. Topographical conditions lend themselves as an aid to the smugglers in that section, Mr. Shouse said.

EVERY FLOWER HAS A STORY OF ITS OWN

"There's rosemary for you, that's for remembrance. Pray you, love, remember," sings Ophelia. That is the meaning, the rosemary has in the flower language.

An old superstition that was current during the middle ages was that three girls should gather on the eve of St. Margaret. A liquid should be prepared from the rosemary of which each drinks. Without a word, they must then go to sleep. If the charm was not broken, the dream of each girl would reveal her future.

Called Mary's Rose

The name is derived from the Latin, rosamarius, meaning dew of the sea, because it grows near the seashore and the leaves look silvery as if they were covered with dew. It was dedicated to the Virgin Mary and called Mary's rose.

A Spanish fairy tale deals with the flower. The king of Spain had a rosemary bush of which he was very proud. One day he was playing his flute. Suddenly a beautiful girl stepped forth from the bush. Startled, the king dropped the instrument and the maiden disappeared. The king immediately fell in love with the beautiful girl and when it was necessary for him to leave he gave the precious plant into the care of the head gardener.

RAILWAY MEN'S WAGE HEARING

Vahey Calls for Living Wage for Men and Their Families

Says Financial Condition of Road Should Not be Considered

Street Railway Attorney
Contends Carmen Are Now
Receiving Living Wage

(Special to The Sun)

STATE HOUSE, Boston, Aug. 10.—That the demands of the carmen employed by the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway company for an increase from 61 to 75 cents an hour should be acceded to by the arbitration board sitting in judgment in the case, regardless of whether the company can obtain men at 51 cents an hour, was the contention made by James H. Vahey, representing the men on the board at the final hearing yesterday.

Counsel Vahey backed up his assertion by the statement that a living wage for the men and their families should have prior consideration over all other factors.

Taking issue with the argument advanced previously by Henry F. Hurlburt, special counsel for the company, to the effect that the financial condition of the road must be taken into consideration by the board, Mr. Vahey stated flatly: "The board is bound to award the men a living wage, regardless of its effect upon the company."

"The rights of the men come before the rights of the public," he added.

"This case is here by agreement between the men and the company, and you, as the neutral arbitrator" (addressing Chairman Ogden) "are bound not to consider the rights of the public. The railroad labor board has recently awarded $600,000,000 increased wages to railroad employees, and other tremendous wage increases have been granted, without considering their effect upon the public, and properly so. It is the duty of this board to give these men a living wage. That is the sole issue."

Attorney Hurlburt's Contentions

Atty. Hurlburt contended that the men are now receiving a living wage, and pointed to the fact that according to investigations made by officials of the company, 147 employees own automobiles, and 13 per cent. own their own homes. "According to W. Jett Lauck, the economic expert referred to by the men," said Mr. Hurlburt, "a living wage in 1917 was $500. These men received from $1400 to $1600. It is significant that they have produced no evidence concerning their savings, any evidence to show that they cannot get along on their present wages."

Insisting that the financial condition of the road is a factor which, despite the contentions of the carmen, should be taken into account, Atty. Hurlburt said: "I don't believe that men who have worked for this company from 20 to 40 years are ready to walk the streets looking for a job, if the company is forced to abandon its lines because it cannot pay an increased wage. I don't believe that Counsel Vahey is speaking for these men when he takes such a position."

Counsel Hurlburt then read a statement of deficits occurring on various divisions of the system during the last year. They were as follows:

Lowell, $70,000; Lawrence, $112,000;

Brookline, $135,000; Haverhill, $65,000;

Lynn, $125,000; Salem, $115,000;

Gloucester, $130,000; Quincy, $275,000;

Hyde Park, $85,000; Taunton, $85,000;

Fall River, which earned a net income of $14,000, was the only division on the list showing a profit instead of a loss.

Contributions by cities and towns to help out the road amounted to $51,000 during the year.

Much More Schedule

"The road now has a fare schedule fully as high, if not higher, than any road in this part of the country," said Counsel Hurlburt, "and the fares cannot be raised to produce increased revenue with which to pay the men, because the public simply will not pay the increase. The people of Gloucester, where the company had to abandon its operation, seem to be getting along very well without the cars. They have the jitneys and their own automobiles, and they have made no demand upon the company to restore the cars."

Atty. Hurlburt disputed what he termed the "modern" economic theory put forth by Counsel Vahey for the men, and adduced from the writings of W. Jett Lauck and the testimony of Arthur C. Sturgis, statisticians called upon by the men. "I thought I knew something about economics until I came to this hearing," said Mr. Hurlburt, "but regardless of what has been presented here on behalf of the men, I maintain that the old law of supply and demand should hold sway. These men have their services to sell; that is their commodity in the market. If they are now receiving a living wage, as I contend they are, and there is a plentiful supply of labor, as the company's officials have shown there is, then under the law of supply and demand, there is no reason in the world why the company should pay its men higher wages."

Permanency of work was argued by Mr. Hurlburt as a factor of great importance in considering the advantages of the carmen as compared with other workers. He reinforced his argument by quotations from the testimony of Arthur C. Wadleigh, a trustee, and several other witnesses.

Counsel Hurlburt referred to efforts of the trustees to institute economies in the management of the road, pointing out that there is but one high paid executive, Robert H. Stearns, general manager, who receives $20,000 annually.

Attorney Vahey Replies

Attorney Vahey ridiculed the efforts of the trustees to save money for the road, as described by Mr. Hurlburt. "A majority of the trustees at least don't need the $5000 which they draw," he asserted. "Mr. Loring himself is worth many, many times $5000, and will not even say that he is not a millionaire."

The union counsel then took up the contention of Attorney Hurlburt that the cost of living has shown a decrease recently. Reading from a recent report of the Massachusetts commission on the necessities of life, he claimed that as compared with 100 per cent. as a basis for 1914, the cost of living in May, 1920, was 200.3 per cent.; in June, 1920, 199.7 per cent.; and in July, 1920, 204.5 per cent.

The arbitration board has no right to consider the law of supply and demand in regulating the wages which should be paid the men, according to Mr. Vahey, who attacked the assertion of Mr. Hurlburt on this point. "This board is bound to award the men a living wage, regardless of its effect upon the company," insisted Mr. Vahey, and he referred to statements made by Mr. James J. Storrow, called as a witness by the carmen, in support of his attitude.

No Regard for Men

"The position of the company that the men should work for 3 cents an hour less in those places where it did not earn the cost of service illustrates the absolute lack of regard for the men by these trustees," continued the union counsel. "If this were carried out, it would mean a contribution of $54 per man, against the contribution of $2 per inhabitant by the towns which contributed toward the deficit of the road."

Arguing in support of the demand for 8 hours' work in ten, Mr. Vahey said: "The eight-hour day is inevitable. You might as well try to prevent the waters of the ocean from breaking on the shore, or the wind from blowing through the forest, as to attempt to deny to the workers the eight-hour day."

In reply to a statement by Attorney Hurlburt to the effect that working people are investing their increased wages in silk stockings and other luxuries, Mr. Vahey said that this could not be so in the case of the families of the Eastern Massachusetts carmen. "For upon a wage of 61 cents an hour," he added, "they would have to go without food, if they did this."

He then read from statements made by former President Taft while on the war labor board, to the effect that in the determination of wage awards, the financial condition of the company should not be taken into consideration.

Mr. Vahey, contending that an increase in wages would not wreck the road, pointed out that the advances given in other lines of industry have not, in reality, been a material factor in increasing the cost of foodstuffs and other necessities. In support of this argument, he quoted from statistics showing that the wage advance to the miners during the past few years had not averaged more than 40 cents to the ton of coal. In speaking about one-man cars, the union attorney declared that the men as well as the company ought to be given the benefit of more efficient service. He said this had been the practice in the past, when the use of improved machinery had brought about a lessening in the demand for labor. He saw no reason why the stockholders should derive all the profits from the use of an invention and the laboring man none.

Vahey Denounces Crowley

Mr. Vahey, in his brief referred to Trustee Crowley as follows:

"With the same importance that characterized Mrs. Partington's efforts to stop the incoming waves of the ocean the company when put to its trumps produced this kind of testimony:

"First let us briefly refer to Trustee Crowley (it seems only yesterday that he was Employee Crowley) who was asked to state whether in his opinion the men ought to get more money and who refused to commit himself, adroitly turning the subject off by saying that he did not know where the money was coming from. On these financial matters Trustee Crowley now scurries to cover like a frightened rabbit although in 1915 as a member of the general conference board in the Bay State arbitration he claimed that the financial condition of the road should be totally ignored. 'Indeed, none was more insistent than he that the men could no longer live on starvation wages; none was more cast down by the burdens of life than he, but he is pretty comfortable just now, thank you.'

"For over a year he has struggled along on a salary of $5000 a year, and will continue to do so for many years unless the gloomy predictions of Chairman Loring respecting the bankruptcy of the company are justified. For over a year Mr. Crowley has been close to the throne. He has ample opportunity of absorbing the un-economic ideas of Messrs. Loring and Wadleigh. Men of their dominating personalities could blow the little down person about whither so ever they pleased."

"Trustee Crowley has forgotten memories of other days, the trials and tribulations of his fellow men no longer appeal to him, with that degree of intensity that they did a few years ago before fortune began to smile upon him."

(Stop here and read as you pass by, as you are now, so once was I.) The entire hearing came to an end today, and the decision in the case, it is expected, will be announced within a few weeks.

Careless Shampooing Spoils the Hair

Soap should be used very carefully, if you want to keep your hair looking its best. Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and ruins it.

The best thing for steady use is Mulseid coconut oil shampoo (which is pure and greaseless), and is better than anything else you can use.

One or two teaspoonsful will cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, which rinses out easily, removing every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves
